

Steel Strike "Settlement" Is Expected "Momentarily"

By STERLING F. GREEN
Washington, Feb. 15 (AP)—Official Washington confidently expected a steel strike settlement today as a swift follow-up to President Truman's higher wage-price line and his choice of Chester Bowles to hold it.

Providing price increases for industry to cover government-approved wage hikes, the new reconversion formula, a White House spokesman said, supplies the basis for ending the walkout of 750,000 CIO-United Steelworkers—largest single strike in American history. Other high officials said approval of a steel price boost of approximately $5 a ton would be a factor in the settlement.

Aides said that when Mr. Truman turned loose the long-awaited policy change late last night, he also had counted on making a simultaneous announcement that the steel strike was over. However, he was disappointed by U. S. Steel and CIO negotiators who were reported close to agreement in a late session but still short of bridging the final gap.

Need Production
The president said the new policy was designed to cope with a reconversion situation in which "vitality needed production is lagging" and collective bargaining "has broken down" in many key industries.

It calls for these broad changes in the nation's approach to the wage-price question:

1. Wage increases must be approved by the National Wage Stabilization Board. And this board must see that they do not exceed the pattern of pay boosts in an industry or area since V-J—about 16 to 18 per cent.

2. Higher price ceilings will be granted manufacturers immediately—instead of after six months—to insure profitable operation after an approved wage increase is granted.

3. OPA Administrator Bowles becomes director of the re-created office of Economic Stabilization and is charged with laying down the specific rules for the new policy.

4. Paul A. Porter, chairman of the Federal Communications Commission and a staunch hold-the-line man, steps into Bowles' OPA shoes.

5. The wartime OES is revived to replace the office of stabilization administrator previously headed by John C. Collet. As its boss, Bowles has wider authority than Collet but still is in the office—and under the supervision—of reconversion director John W. Snyder, with whom he tangled on pricing policy. Collet plans to return to his Missouri Federal Judgeship.

AFL Attacks Policy
To cap this denouement of a month-long drama of conflict among subordinates, the president appealed for firm holding of the new and higher line to avoid "the misery and danger of inflation."

"I call upon both management and labor to proceed with production," Mr. Truman said in a statement.

"Production is our salvation. Production is the basis of high wages and profits and high standards of living for us all. Production will do away with the necessity for government controls."

But the reaction in Congress was divided. Some members saw inflationary threats in the program. Others thought the trend could be controlled.

The AFL described Truman's new wage-price policy as "Unsatisfactory, unacceptable and a backward step." President William Green said "it will only serve to increase confusion and multiply the nation's troubles."

CIO President Philip Murray made no immediate comment on the general policy.

However, in granting price increases, OPA need do no more at the outset than see that the industry runs at a profit, if it is likely that greater output will lower costs so that over a year's time the pre-war profit pattern will be matched.

This meant that OPA had won a point in the planning of the new policy—the point that increased productivity would lower costs in most cases so that initial price boosts could be held down, or as Mr. Truman put it "conservatively adjusted."

2 ARE TRAPPED IN FRAMEWORK OF HOME DOWNED BY STRONG WIND

The framework of a house collapsed, trapping two men; 18 United Telephone company poles were blown over, cutting off service in one section of the county, and the temperature went skidding far below zero as February made up for the short-lived warmth of Thursday morning with a wild combination of gale-like winds, scattered snow flurries and freezing cold.

Most serious prank of the storm was the blowing down of the framework of a two-story dwelling being erected by Kenneth Sanders on a property two miles south of Fairfield Thursday afternoon about 3:30 o'clock.

Pinned By Framework
Sanders and his father-in-law, Oliver Sanders, Fairfield R. 1, were placing window frames in the new structure when the framework collapsed under the wind, pinning both men beneath the wood. A short time later Millard Stoner, Fairfield, who was driving by in an auto, noticed the collapsed structure and upon investigation found the men. He helped them to extricate themselves and took Oliver Sanders to the office of Dr. Ira M. Henderson, Fairfield, where he was treated for bruises and shock. Kenneth Sanders was also treated for shock and injuries to his ankles.

About ten telephone company poles blew over along the Fairfield-Orrtanna road Thursday evening and additional poles went down on the Jacks Mountain road and on the Biglerville-Wenksville road. All were suspended in midair and did not completely block the roads, but traffic had to operate as if on a one-way highway for a time. The dangling wires continued to serve the phone owners in all sections of the Biglerville-Wenksville area where the lines broke.

The United Telephone company reported that one pole had broken loose near Fairfield, and had swung on the wires in the wind, dragging a wire into a tree and shorting it before the damage was discovered. The wire burned through, cutting off electric power to one home.

Gale-like Winds
Signs in front of stores swung wildly in the winds that in some sections reached the 48-mile-an-hour level. While no machines for measuring the strength of the wind are in Adams county, at present the Harrisburg weather bureau reported 48-mile-an-hour gales. The temperature dropped to 16 at Arendtsville by 8 o'clock this morning.

The top of a large ventilator on the roof of the Schwartz Feed building, Carlisle street, blew off about 9:30 o'clock this morning, narrowly missing a customer who was standing in a truck beside the loading door of the establishment. A number of trees throughout the town leaned perilously under the buffeting of the winds, but no reports were received of any crashing to the ground.

The awning at Sherman's Clothing store snapped the iron bars that held it and tore loose from the building, and a damaged awning at Coffman-Fisher's store ripped itself to ribbons in the wind.

The gale blew in the gable end (Please turn to Page 2)

BRITISH BRIDE OF COUNTY MAN LIKES AMERICA

Dora Donaldson, wife of James Donaldson, Orrtanna, is London-born and bred, but the tiny village of Orrtanna nestling in the South Mountains seems "more like home than home itself, I like it," she told a reporter of The Gettysburg Times in an interview.

"You see," she added, "I was stationed in Essex, where I was stationed while in the armed forces and where I met Jim, was just about the size of Orrtanna. And there was a larger town about six miles away about the size of Gettysburg where Jim and I used to go to the movies just as we do now in Gettysburg, so the two places may be three thousand miles apart, but they are much alike."

Mrs. Donaldson, one of two English brides of Adams county who married while with the armed forces in England, arrived Sunday in New York aboard the Queen Mary.

Ill During Voyage

Of the trip the vivacious English girl reported: "I was sick for three days and the other wives were sick—but in all we had a good time coming over. Everyone was happy to be coming home to their husbands."

Enroute from New York to Orrtanna, Mrs. Donaldson satisfied a craving of seven years' standing—she had a banana split at a soda fountain in Lancaster. There she made acquaintance with an American institution, the drug store, which she found fascinating. "We have chemists' shops and soda fountains in England, but nothing like the drug store. What amazes me, not only in drug stores but in all the stores is the tremendous quantity of things for sale. Why in a dress shop there were hundreds of dresses to pick from. After England, where there is so little that can be bought, America just seems to be flowing with goods. Over there you had to stand in line for hours to buy anything and then there was very little in the shops."

Has Sense of Humor
Mrs. Donaldson has a typically American sense of humor and a gift for mimicking the speech of others. She was amused by the American habit of praising a particular section of country to the detriment of others and told, complete with imitating the accent of the soldiers, an incident aboard ship enroute here.

An American G.I. asked "Where are you headed for?"

When told Pennsylvania he answered, "That's a shame, you should come to God's country—Illinois." Just then another soldier butted in: "Don't you believe that lady, dere ain't no place like Pittsburgh."

America's size and the lack of damage from the war, all amazed and pleased the English girl, she confessed. The tremendous variety and quantity of food available all are sources of wonder and pleasure, "but sometimes the food is baffling—but good, like schmitz and knepff."

Craving for Fruit

Right now she is catching up with a desire for fruits, greens and sweets that was restrained by the war-time shortages in England she reported. "And after hearing all I'm anxious for spring. We had some orchards at Felsted, but not much."

"America is wonderful, there's no place like it," she stated, but husband Jim reported one disappointment she had in America. "Dora was mighty disappointed with the banana split—they hid the banana and she couldn't see it." Mrs. Donaldson quoting her, that what she had been amazed by was the size of the banana split, "with all that ice cream and syrup and fruit and everything. It was more a meal than a dessert."

Mr. Donaldson, who works for the state highway department, met his English bride when he was a sergeant stationed at an American Air Forces field about four miles from Felsted. He bicycled back and forth to Felsted for meetings with the future Mrs. Donaldson.

Army Develops World's Fastest Calculating Device

(Associated Press Science Writer)
Philadelphia, Feb. 15 (AP)—By combining a centuries-old gadget with the latest in electronics, the army came up today with a 30-ton monster it calls "the world's fastest calculating machine."

Although designed for war, the machine holds possibilities of better living in peace.

More accurate weather forecasting, improved industrial products and general advances in science and engineering may be made possible, the army Ordnance department said last night in unveiling the mathematical robot described as 1,000 times faster than any other calculating machine ever built.

McSherrystown To Build Engine House

The purchase of land at Third and Main streets in McSherrystown, to be used as the site for a new fire engine house was approved at a meeting of the McSherrystown borough council on Monday evening in the council chambers.

The plot, fronting 40 feet on Main street, is to be purchased from Harry J. Wagaman. It is located at the southwest corner of the intersection, about half a block from the present engine house. No time for the erection of the proposed engine house has been fixed, council feeling that conditions at present would make it unwise to build now.

The purchase of the land is provided for by an ordinance adopted at Monday's meeting.

FARM TRAINING VETERAN SETUP LAUNCHED HERE

A coordinated program for providing vocational farm training in school and on the farm for returned veterans got under way in Adams county today with a meeting at the court house of school authorities and veteran representatives.

Attending the meeting were Richard C. Lighter, vocational educational advisor for Adams, Cumberland and Perry counties and chairman of the meeting; Roy A. Alexander, director of veterans affairs for Adams county; Paul M. Rohrbaugh, American Legion service officer, Gettysburg; M. T. Hartman, county farm agent; Ira Dunmore, assistant county farm agent; Clarence A. Myers, York, Farm Security Administration supervisor, and T. M. Malin, York, vocational agricultural advisor for York and Lancaster counties.

Provides Payment

Similar in respects to the on-the-job and apprentice training program in industry, under the GI bill, the farm training program provides classroom instruction and supervision on the farm for veterans whose applications are approved, and payment for schools and instructors participating in the program. Payments under the GI bill are also provided for veterans similar to apprentice payments.

The vocational schools of Adams county are very definitely charged with the training of veterans under the GI Bill of Rights. Mr. Lighter explained, "Those of us in the field of vocational agriculture will be expected to provide training in the field of agriculture." Schools in the county equipped to participate in this program, which have thus far been contacted, have signified their willingness to provide the instruction outlined. Mr. Lighter said.

Tentative Program

The training under the present set-up, which is subject to change, will be as follows: on-the-job training, where a trainee has purchased or has rented a farm; apprentice training, in the case where a trainee has had little or no previous farm experience and is located on a farm for the purpose of getting work experience; trainees who want additional farm training to learn the latest developments in the field of agriculture during the war years.

Instruction in the vocational schools may be individual, or it may (Please turn to Page 8)

Theft Report BRINGS CHARGE

An investigation into an alleged car theft led to information being placed before Justice of the Peace Howard Blocher, Littlestown, against Fred Shull, Littlestown auto dealer, state police reported today.

Shull is charged with a misstatement of facts to the Bureau of Motor Vehicles in applying for an owner's certificate for an automobile. The charge was placed by State Trooper Robert Dietrich of the local sub-station of the state police.

The officer said that Shull on February 5 had reported the theft of a car from his parking lot. Investigation disclosed that the car was in the hands of a Raleigh, N. C., motorist who, police believe, purchased the car from Shull, according to Sgt. W. Kurt Durkoff, of the local sub-station.

Meantime Shull was said by police to have applied for a new certificate as owner of the car and as a result the charge was brought before Justice Blocher. A hearing will be held at a later date.

State police also reported the arrest of Emmanuel Buch, Harrisburg, for speeding at 65 miles an hour. Charged before Justice of the Peace W. D. Brown, Hunterstown, Buch paid a fine and costs for the motor code infraction.

The guardsmen on Thursday evening continued their target practice on the indoor firing range at Gettysburg college, using army equipment. Forty-nine members of the troop fired for score and averaged 29 out of a possible 50 points. The sitting position was used.

Highest individual score was made by Milton Hoffman of Gettysburg who scored 46 points. Four tied for second position with scores of 43. They were Capt. C. Arthur Brame, Curtis and Clenson Stoner and George Coshun.

Last week the guard members fired from a prone position. At the next session February 28 they will use the standing position.

DUTCH HOPEFUL DESPITE BOCHE LOOT OF NATION

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP World Traveler

The Hague, Feb. 15—Prime Minister Schermerhorn tells this column "things are not so bad" with Holland in her struggle for recovery.

Well, it's good to hear that from the chief minister of state but Mrs. Mack and I, having looked things over for ourselves, take it that he was speaking rather euphemistically, after the manner of the Dutch, who are a brave people and don't cry over their hurts in public.

It's true that, compared with a year ago, when many folk were dying of starvation and other privations, "things aren't so bad." But believe us, Holland still is suffering grievously.

"There no longer is hunger," said Dr. Schermerhorn gratefully, and he gave us his famous big smile.

That's the way they gauge the situation here after their long torture at the hands of Nazi brutality. If they aren't actually hungry, then things are going well. But while, through careful rationing, everyone is getting a fair amount of food, the diet still is thin indeed. We asked the prime minister if the thousands of drawn faces one sees don't mean undernourishment from days not so long ago. He nodded sober agreement.

Short of Wheat
"With this year's crops, conditions will be much better—barring the matter of wheat," he said. "We shall be dependent on the United States, Canada and South America for most of our wheat, because even in normal times we never have grown more than forty per cent of that. We shall have enough vegetables so that we can export some to England, Belgium and Germany, and with the arrival of spring there once more will be eggs and milk, both of which have been almost nonexistent."

We asked about the clothing situation, for nearly everyone you see is wearing darned and patched things, and this is also true of shoes. The prime minister threw up his hands.

"As for the textile situation, it's impossible," he said with finality. "There is no cloth available for clothing. Even many little children are having to go without underwear during the winter months."

Rolling Stock Stolen
"Another great problem is transportation. The Germans took away all but 15 per cent of our rolling stock. Some of that is finding its way back through the Allied forces of occupation in Germany, but most of it we never shall see again. We are running only a few trains, and some of the coaches are, without windows and otherwise are in bad condition."

"As for automobiles, the Germans also cleaned us out of most of those. There are in Holland only 400,000—all prewar and most of them in terrible shape. We have no new tires at all. We plan to import 10,000 cars this year, but by the end of 1946 an equal number of the old cars will have passed out so that we shall be no further ahead."

However, our greatest shortage is in machinery and machine tools. The Germans took away everything we had, even the machinery in our two large railway repair shops. So we are unable either to get industry under way or to repair our crippled transportation until we can import machines and tools.

Millions Impounded
"We want to get these necessities from America, and the only reason we haven't purchased them already is because for the time being we have no dollars available. Actually we have in the United States funds amounting to several hundred million dollars, but these were impounded pending investigation to make sure that no enemy money was involved. With the release of these assets we shall be able to take up again the purchase of at least part of our most urgently needed machinery."

Holland is lacking all these necessities, but among the things which she does have and cherish is freedom of the press. I told the prime minister that Mrs. Mack and I are exponents of complete freedom of exchange of news among nations as an essential to world peace. He agreed vigorously.

"There in Holland we have absolute freedom," he said. "The government has no control over the press and never interferes in any way."

Members of the Little Bridge club were entertained Thursday afternoon by Mrs. M. T. Dill at her home in Biglerville.

will hold an "African" party in the church dining room this evening at 7:30 o'clock. A box of school supplies will be packed and sent to a high school in Africa.

Approximately 300 persons attended the Valentine dance held by the Gettysburg Lodge of Elks Thursday evening. A feature of the program was an eight-act professional floor show.

Also scheduled to speak Thursday, March 14, is Dr. Warren D. Bowman, Washington, D. C., chairman of the Committee on Marriage and Home of the Washington Federation of Churches. He will speak on "Love, Courtship and Marriage" at 3:30 p. m. ACCUSE FRANCE AND BRITAIN IN UNO SESSIONS

London, Feb. 15 (AP)—Lebanon accused Great Britain and France today of "a grave attack on the sovereignty" of the Levantine states and demanded the "immediate and simultaneous evacuation" of all foreign troops from Lebanese soil.

Foreign Minister Hamid Bey Frangie of Lebanon opened the debate on Syrian-Lebanese charges against Britain and France, an issue which forced the Security Council to remain in London as delegates to the first General Assembly departed for home.

He told the 11-nation peace agency that the presence of British and French troops constitutes "a permanent menace of meddling in the internal affairs of a member of the UNO," and declared that their presence is "not dictated by military necessity, nor by agreement of the governments, nor by international accord."

Grateful to Britain
Frangie was followed by Syrian Delegate Paris Bey El Khoury, who told the council that since the end of the war "we have made constant representations for the simultaneous withdrawal" of British and French troops "but we waited in vain."

He pointed out that the British-French accord of December, 1945, for withdrawal of their forces provided for "the maintenance in the Levant of sufficient forces to guarantee security until such time as the United Nations Organization has decided on the organization of collective security in this zone."

He expressed gratitude to Britain for help during two wars, declaring "they saved our country from destruction."

DRAFT BOARDS TO CHECK 4F'S

Washington, Feb. 15 (AP)—Selective Service headquarters today directed local boards to comb their lists of 4-F's and other deferred classes to get men for limited military service.

The action was taken at the request of the army which lowered its physical standards for draftees to an "absolute minimum" and called on Selective Service to meet its full quotas and make up an accumulated deficit of 75,000 men.

Selective Service officials said through state headquarters, the local boards were directed specifically to review:

1. The records of men classified as 4-F or previously rejected for military service; 2. Class 2-AL, men who if not deferred because of their occupation would be classed 4-F; and Class 2-CL, farm workers who otherwise would be classed 4-F.

These are included in an overall pool of men between 18 and 25 inclusive who for various reasons had been turned down for the draft.

Officials said quotas might be increased for March, but the main effect of the army's increased demands would be felt in April when the draft has been asked to provide 125,000 instead of the current monthly quota of 90,000.

MOTOR CLUB HAS DATA ON INCOME TAX REDUCTIONS

Motorists may deduct on their Federal Income Tax returns this year, the money they paid out in state gasoline taxes in 1945, it was announced today by the Gettysburg Motor Club. The state rate is 4c per gallon.

Deductions, whether based on a state gasoline tax or on other items, may be made only when the taxpayer reports his income in detail on Form 1040. No deductions may be claimed by those who file a Withholding Receipt as a return, or who use Form 1040 and take advantage of the tax table or standard deduction. The blanket allowance granted in the latter cases is deemed to be sufficient to cover allowable personal deductions.

Other Deductions
Assuming that the car-owning taxpayer itemizes his income on the long-form Form 1040, there are a number of deductions he may claim. These include registration fees, driver license fee, and personal property tax. The Federal Excise Tax is not deductible except when the car is used in the operation of a trade or business or in the production of income from rents or royalties. The Federal gasoline tax and other Federal excise taxes are not deductible, since they are taxes imposed on the manufacturer.

It was also disclosed that interest on money borrowed for the purchase of an automobile is deductible, subject to certain limitations. A passenger car owner, who uses his vehicle solely for business purposes, may also make deductions for all expenses incident to maintenance, including depreciation. When a car is used only partly for business a proportionate allowance may be made, the Motor Club announcement said.

Casualty Losses
Users of the long-form Form 1040 may deduct a casualty loss sustained by reason of damage to a passenger automobile, even if the car is being used for non-business purposes. Such a loss, however, must be an actual loss and not compensated for by insurance. Damages paid for injury to a pedestrian are deductible if the car was being used for business purposes at the time of the accident. The payment of fines cannot be the basis of a deduction in any instance.

Other regulations concern loss sustained from the outright sale of an automobile, the amount paid for insurance, and finance charges. Under certain conditions in each of those cases, some deduction is allowable.

The American Automobile Association has prepared a detailed listing of income tax deductions allowable because of car ownership and use. A supply of copies is on hand at the office of the Gettysburg Motor club for the benefit of motorists in making their returns.

Gettysburg fire company may have to buy some new uniforms soon as the time approaches for the firemen's parade occasions, which reach their climax with the York convention. The boys that have been in the service may be hard to fit with "hand-me-downs." President Aumen is alive to the situation, and there will be new uniforms for those who need them.

Clarence Smith, county commissioners' clerk took compliments paid him this morning about his "new" suit with a smile. The suit is six years old, he explains, purchased for $10 at a sale and he was just about to throw it away when he decided one more cleaning would not hurt it. . . . Robert Smith of the Adams Electric, and Paul A. Kinsey of the Metropolitan Edison company, both had the same answer when asked this morning about storm damage to their lines: "Not much as yet, but anything can happen and I hope it doesn't."

Glenn Guise, up on the roof at the fire on Chambersburg street, yelled for the fire engine to start pumping and then asked, "Do you think water or ice will come out."

E. S. Kelly, York street, asked about damage to his barn by the storm, said, "Wait a minute till I go see," returned to answer, "Yep, she's in."

The largest allocation, 800, will go to Columbia university.

Fifty units will be assigned to Jamestown, N. Y.; 50 to Norristown, Pa., and 29 to Washington and Jefferson college, Washington, Pa.

ACCUSE FRANK IN JEWS' DEATHS

Nuernberg, Feb. 15 (AP)—The Russian prosecution presented documentary evidence to the International Military Tribunal today stating that defendant Hans Frank was responsible for butchering 3,000,000 Jews while he was governor general of Poland.

Soviet prosecutors said Frank entered in his diary his declaration in a 1940 newspaper interview that "there would not be enough forests in Poland" to supply paper for the lists of Poles he had slaughtered if he tried to emulate colleagues in Czechoslovakia by issuing posters announcing the execution of a mere seven victims.

The document said Frank pledged that the campaign of annihilation would be intensified with the end of the war.

"Peace will mean that we will have to conduct colonization on an even grander scale than today," he told a Nazi police conference May 30, 1940, the document said, in the course of a description of his vast program for killing every Pole except those needed as slaves for the new German landlords taking over Polish lands.

Frank sat impassively in the prisoners' box staring at the floor as Prosecutor L. N. Smirnov read to the Tribunal extracts from Frank's diary, relating his declaration to the police conference that the great extermination should be pressed relentlessly "so that the Polish army may no longer rise."

Eisenhower's Aide Ambassador To Reds

The tart-tongued 51-year-old soldier who rose through the ranks to become general Eisenhower's chief of staff in the tense war years, will succeed dapper, wealthy, W. Averell Harriman.

Less than 12 hours after he reached Washington from a diplomatic mission to the far east, Harriman gained presidential acceptance of a resignation he first submitted last April in order to return to private business.

SPIA BODY TO DISCUSS PIAA CAGE RULING

Reports that the Southern Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic conference might break with the PIAA over the ruling made at a meeting in Steelton Monday evening whereby the state organization will take over the operation of the playoff between the Northern and Southern division basketball champions of the league this season gained little credence in local circles today.

Ray Gray, Hanover, president of the conference, has called a special meeting to be held at the Hotel Gettysburg next Wednesday evening at 6 o'clock of principals and faculty managers of the schools to discuss the ruling.

Under the new PIAA ruling which gives the state group supervision over the game the PIAA would receive a large cut of the receipts to which a number of South Penn officials are objecting. Under the league setup each team would receive 40 per cent with 20 per cent going to the league treasury.

Widely Separated
For the background of the case one must go back to the start of the war. The eight schools are widely separated in five counties—Dauphin, Adams, Cumberland, York, and Franklin. Members of the basketball league, which has basketball as one of three sports sponsored by the conference, are Hershey, Mechanicsburg, Shippensburg, Carlisle, Chambersburg, Hanover, Waynesboro and Gettysburg high schools.

With the outbreak of war came gasoline rationing and the conference decided immediately that too much traveling was involved to continue the conference as it was—an eight-team league with the teams meeting each other twice. It figured each team required the use of six cars for a game. Thus Hershey high school, at the northern tip of the conference area, would cover an estimated 3,300 miles with its six vehicles during the season. So it was decided to split the loop into two divisions, grouping four northern and four southern section schools. This was done, and winners of the two divisions met for the league championship and the privilege of entering PIAA playoffs.

Last year Edmund C. Wicht, State PIAA executive secretary, told the conference it would have to allow the State body to sponsor the playoff since PIAA frowned on split leagues. But conference officials managed to talk Wicht out of it last year.

But Wicht has laid down the law this year. No playoff unless it's sponsored by PIAA, he has told the conference.

The conference is quite riled over the ultimatum.

One conference official had this to say: "The PIAA allows leagues to play a split season and hold a playoff without PIAA supervising it. Why shouldn't they allow us to have a similar playoff, particularly when the arrangement is only an outgrowth of the war and resulting gasoline and transportation shortage."

The conference has won the District 3 basketball title five years in a row. Should it vote to drop out of the PIAA the member schools could play seven football games and 14 court contests by scheduling only each other. Games could not be slated with PIAA members.

After the Phillies' president, Bob Carpenter, announced yesterday he had signed the pretty recently-discharged WAVE as a scout, (first woman scout in major league baseball to his knowledge), Miss Houghton told reporters the thing she would look for was "size."

"I think I'll be able to recognize a prospect all right," she said with feminine dignity. "After all I played with the Hollywood girls, and we were on tour for six months, playing men's teams in the Piedmont league, the Texas league; in fact all through the south. Oh, I know what a ball player looks like."

"It's not hard to pick them out," she continued, "you look for the natural ability. The rest comes with training."

Miss Houghton, who served three years with the WAVES, started playing baseball herself at the age of eight when she joined the Philadelphia Bobbies, a girls' baseball team. At 13, when she was a regular shortstop and pitcher, the Bobbies made a trip to Japan and she likes to talk about that trip.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr.
New York, Feb. 15 (AP)—The optimism that Frank Leahy was displaying over Notre Dame's football prospects last week-end must have dropped a few points when he heard that Frank Yokas, the flashy guard from Rock Island, Ill., high school and St. Mary's pre-flight, had signed with the pros. . . . Yokas is the kid who, when asked by Leahy if he thought he'd make good in college football, solemnly replied: "Coach I'll eat them college kids alive." . . . Leahy still won't have much cause for mourning. If all goes well he can start Johnny Lujack, Phil Colella and Bob Kelly in his backfield and then take his choice of Jim Mello, Gerry Cowhig, Cormie Clatt, John Pinelli and Floyd Simmons at fullback. . . . Speaking of football, southern scribes are performing eyebrow exercises over Carl Snavely's comment when Charlie Justice, the most sought-after kid in the south, registered at North Carolina: "I certainly hope he will come out for the football squad."

SPORTSPOURRI
The three men who headed the naval aviation physical training program during the war all have moved into top-flight athletic jobs. Tom Hamilton as Navy coach, Frank Wickhorst at California and Killer Kane as assistant athletic director at Annapolis. . . . The Braves' Johnny Hopp is a nephew of Jake Gettman, who once made ten consecutive hits in National league baseball. . . . When Tommy Burns, the Australian welterweight, was training for his recent scrap with Vic Patrick, he engaged Wrestler Tommy Nilan, weighing 15 stone 10 pounds, as a bodyguard. . . . The dictionary says a "stone" varies in weight from five to 32 pounds but for cheese it's 16 pounds. Presumably that figure applies to wrestlers, too.

PROPOSED FISH, GAME MERGER IS UP FOR AIRING

Harrisburg, Feb. 15 (AP)—The proposed merger of the state Fish and Game commissions was up for consideration today at a directors' meeting of the Pennsylvania Sportsmen's Federation.

President Colin Reed, of Washington, Pa., said any action taken by the directors would be transmitted to the entire federation at its annual session here tomorrow.

Reed told the Fish and Game committee of the joint state government (research) commission yesterday the federation may recommend revamping of the present fish code to conform to the administrative code now used by the game commission.

Would Raise Fees
In addition to President Reed other officers of the federation for the annual session were Oscar Becker, Reading, first vice president; Odd McCleary, Ellwood City, second vice president; and C. A. Mortimer, Honesdale, secretary.

Increased use of fishing and hunting license fees for re-stocking of hatcheries and state game lands was recommended by one of eight sportsmen's groups at yesterday's session. An increase in the fishing license fee from $1.50 to $2.00 was urged, the money to be spent for fish propagation.

Another group also recommended an increase in the purchase of rabbit for re-stocking, insisting that the present supply was inadequate.

Move To Reduce Beaver Population

Harrisburg, Feb. 15 (AP)—The state Game Commission's annual drive to keep Pennsylvania's beaver population from multiplying too rapidly started today and will continue until March 1.

Harold Plasterer, chief clerk of the bounty division said that while beaver are regarded more a nuisance than as destructive pests the animals could create plenty of havoc throughout the state if permitted to multiply from year to year.

Trappers are permitted to take only two beaver during the season but the state Game Commission said high pelt prices may bring about a bigger than usual catch.

Hogan And Byrd In Lead At New Orleans

New Orleans, Feb. 15 (AP)—Still swinging away at the pace they set in the Texas open last week little Ben Hogan of Hershey, Pa., and handsome Sam Byrd of Detroit, led the field into the second round of the $7,500 New Orleans open golf tournament here today.

Hogan and Byrd, with 71's, were the only players among 144 starters who nicked the 72 par in yesterday's first round over the long, flat city park course. Fresh and chilling north winds blew most of the scores way up. For today, fair and slightly warmer weather with gentle to moderate winds was forecast.

The two leaders were continuing with the momentum they gained last week at San Antonio, when Hogan set a record 264 to win the Texas title and Byrd scorched through the last 36 holes in 129 strokes.

Byron Nelson of Toledo, Ohio, defending champion and last year's leading money winner, shot a 36-37 73 to share the third-place slot with four others.

Gush Of Entries For Kentucky Derby

Louisville, Ky., Feb. 15 (AP)—Nominations for the 1946 running of the Kentucky Derby to be run May 4, were pouring into Churchill Downs today with the deadline set for midnight tonight.

Sam McMeekin, Downs secretary, said he thought derby nominees "might be running slightly ahead of last year" when 155 three-year-olds, fillies and geldings were nominated for the last wartime turf classic here. The list will be announced in early March.

The added money for this, the 72nd annual running of the derby, has been raised from $75,000 to $100,000, making it the richest in its history. The actual cash value to the winner will not be known until the number of entries has been determined the day before the derby.

LAFAYETTE FIVE FACES BULLETS HERE SATURDAY

Another powerhouse basketball team will be the guests of the Gettysburg college quintet here Saturday night when "Bill" Anderson's Lafayette dribblers meet the Bullets in a northern division game of the Middle Atlantic conference.

Lafayette, who handed the Bullets their first defeat of the season at Easton several weeks ago by a 59-54 score, has been greatly bolstered recently with the addition of several returned GIs.

The Leopards pulled a surprise Wednesday evening by handing Muhlenberg its second defeat of the season 47-45 and it was one of the returned vets who scored the winning field goal. The winning shot was made by Martin Zippel who was also the high scorer of the game with 15 tallies.

New Rank High
Coach Bream will have to have his outfit in top form if he hope to half the invaders. Lafayette got off to whirlwind start against the Bullets at Easton and fought off a last period rally to emerge victorious but with the addition of their new stars now rank as one of the strongest teams in the state.

Included in the starting lineup for Lafayette will probably be Kressner and Milne, forwards; Senko, center, and Skvoretz and Zippel, guards.

Preachers In Prelim
The Bullet starters will probably be Welliver and Kaczowski, forwards; Howard, center, with Herr and Plank at guards.

Attendance at the game is expected to reach the record crowd which saw the Muhlenberg game here last week.

Doors to the gymnasium will open at 6:15 o'clock.

At 7 o'clock the seminary dribblers will meet the Mt. Airy seminary five in the preliminary game.

Vet Re-Enlists To Support His Family

Pittsburgh, February 15 (AP)—Robert Chapmann, 35, of Erie, who spent 29 months in service, mostly in the Pacific, told army recruiting officers here he wanted to reenlist to support his wife and their seven children.

The Erie Dispatch-Herald quoted Chapman as saying he realized it was going to be increasingly difficult to support his family under current conditions in civilian life.

Recruiting officers here said, however, that a dependency discharge, on which Chapman left the army must be waived before he can reenlist, and that his status remains "undetermined."

The Chapman children range from a babe in arms to an 11-year-old son.

Other Shorts

New York, Feb. 15 (AP)—Willie Joyce, the Gary, Ind., negro with a slick left jab, is favored to turn the tables on Alie Stolz, Newark lightweight, when they meet tonight in a return 10-round bout at Madison Square Garden.

New York, Feb. 15 (AP)—The suspension of the veteran horse trainer, Tom Smith, a case that stirred turf circles last November, has been upheld by a joint board of the state racing commission and two stewards of the jockey club. Smith's counsel announced he would appeal "to the courts at once."

Chicago, Feb. 15 (AP)—Bob Montgomery, the New York-Pennsylvania lightweight champion, and Leo Rodak, Chicago veteran, meet in a 10-round non-title main event headlining the Chicago stadium's boxing show tonight.

GARDELLA IS FIRED BY GIANTS

Miami, Fla., Feb. 15 (AP)—Some lucky minor league baseball club is going to acquire very shortly—possibly by the time this is in print—a player who will pack more paying customers into its park than a grateful management has seen in many a season.

His name is Danny Gardella, from the Bronx, the same who gained the doubtful distinction yesterday of being tossed out of the New York Giants training camp before he could even work up a perspiration or sign a contract.

Danny not only is a character and an excellent and determined ballplayer, but he can hit a baseball out of sight. He probably will go down in history as the only player who ever hit 18 home-runs for a big league club one season, and was booted into the minors the next year before he could put on a uniform.

Danny, whom they describe as "the Babe Herman type" in the outfield, blew into Miami a couple of nights ago attired in one of his favorite sweaters, and suitable other accessories, and indulged himself in a loud argument in the hotel dining room with Eddie Brannick, the Giant secretary.

Brannick emerged from the word-fight highly indignant, and that he told Gardella that he "would hear from his manager."

And, sure enough, Gardella did. Manager Mel Ott wouldn't let him put on a uniform.

enlist, and that his status remains "undetermined."

The Chapman children range from a babe in arms to an 11-year-old son.

GREENBERG HAS SIGNED FOR '46 WITH DETROIT

New York, Feb. 15 (AP)—Big Hank Greenberg has signed a Detroit contract calling for a salary of around $60,000 for 1946, but there are still at least 25 recognized major league baseball holdouts today.

The latest to announce dissatisfaction is Bill Nicholson, slugging outfielder of the Chicago Cubs, who disclosed yesterday that his new contract calling for a slash in his paycheck wasn't "quite acceptable."

Nicholson joins Rudy York, Boston Red Sox first baseman and 1943 American league home run champ; Vern Stephens, St. Louis Browns' shortstop and 1945 homer king; Dixie Walker, Brooklyn outfielder and 1944 National league batting champ; George Stinnett, New York Yankee second baseman and American league batting leader last year; Hal Newhouse, Detroit's star lefthander, and Marty Marion, sterling St. Louis Cardinal shortstop, as the most prominent of the holdouts.

Newhouse was voted most valuable in the American league the past two years while Marion won the award.

Just Folks

By Edgar A. Guest

MAN AND WOMAN
Man and woman, can you guess
All you know of happiness?
You have company for care,
Burdens often two can share,
Dreams and fancies all your own,
Kept from those who walk alone.

Man and wife, throughout the years
You have comradeship for tears,
When you walk or when you ride
You have company at your side,
You have chatter two can know,
Kept from those who single go.

Lucky woman, lucky man!
Share your blessings while you can.
Yours is happiness complete;
Strength for all that you may meet.
You'll have memories good to own
When one faces life alone.

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS
HUMILITY UNDER THE STARS
Standing under the canopy of the heavens we are all akin. We are next-door neighbors, as well, for every one of us, no matter where we behold this celestial constellation of stars studded in the blue above, sees the same sight. Our small earth then shrinks, and we behold the limitless universe—each star and planet in its course—the same yesterday, today—and forever, so far as we know.
No intelligent person can afford to be anything but reverent and humble under the starry night. The Psalmist felt this way as he viewed the stars and exclaimed: "What is man that Thou art mindful of him?" The beauty and the wonder of it all reduces the conceit in its into nothingness. We look in amazement. These are the same stars and planets that billions of other human beings have beheld centuries upon centuries before us.

Great telescopes have revealed still greater wonders than the eye of man has ever suspected, and soon we shall have a new instrument that will reveal new discoveries, far beyond the imagination. How can anyone disbelieve in one Superior Mind over all when he is privileged to look into the face of the starry sky of stars? There is no displacement there. Order and continuity of events parade before one's eyes. Over and over again does that line come to one: "What is man that Thou art mindful of him?"

Just before this talk was written I stepped out into the night and viewed a full Moon, casting its golden rays across the waters of a calm ocean. Through the palms that bordered the edge of the water, a long path of glittering light gave brilliance to the view. And the warm night air carried a message of hope, I am sure, to all who viewed what I was privileged to view, and which so thrilled me. And this Moon was but a big companion to billions of stars, that it only temporarily outshone.

Robert Browning took the star as a symbol of his beloved, and wrote a poem to her which he called "My Star."

I had a mathematics teacher in college who used to interrupt his teachings of figures and tables to tell us about the heavens, and it is my opinion that he made God, the Creator, more real than he ever could have been an ordained minister of the Gospel. He made us feel that we were the inheritors of all that starry domain, and we went out from his classroom and into life humble and reverent.

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Influence"

One of the earliest ways of measuring time was by burning a candle or a stick.

Of the nine provinces of Canada, seven have a coastline on salt water.

There are 27,000 factories in Australia, producing goods worth approximately $2,512,438,500 annually.

RAMSEY BLACK SUPPORTS RICE FOR GOVERNOR

Harrisburg, Feb. 15 (AP)—Agreements on 1946 slates were put off today by both Republican and Democratic leaders in the interest of harmony.

M. Harvey Taylor, state GOP chairman, speaking for top Republican leaders after an hour-long meeting, said action was deferred for a short time because the committee felt "it would be impossible to come to a harmonious agreement upon candidates."

There is a long list of potential Republican candidates for governor, while Governor Martin, who headed party pleas to run for U. S. Senate, also may face a contest.

Davis Is Silent
Former U. S. Senator James J. Davis has been reported considering a come-back, although he has declined to comment on his plans.

Taylor, asked about some reports that Governor Martin had been asked to suggest a candidate for governor but refused, said "there isn't a word of truth in that." Taylor said he did not know when the committee will meet again.

Martin attended the committee's luncheon but did not stay for the conference that followed. He also declined comment.

Democratic leaders, on the other hand, delayed any decisions until Mayor David L. Lawrence, of Pittsburgh, and John J. Kane, Allegheny county commissioner, can attend. State Chairman J. Warren Mickle said the group would meet February 22.

Black for Rice
Democratic leaders privately said the delay will permit Philadelphia chiefs to obtain a final answer from Dean Earl G. Harrison, of the University of Pennsylvania law school, favored by some for the gubernatorial nomination. The Philadelphia delegation held off pressing his candidacy in the meantime.

Mrs. Ruth Grigg Horting, of Lancaster, state vice chairman, again urged the candidacy of Federal Judge Guy K. Bard of Lancaster county while friends of Auditor General G. Harold Wagner and former State Senator John S. Rice, of Adams county, called for a candidate from an interior county. State Treasurer Ramsey S. Black supported Rice.

Mickle said so far there has been no discussion of candidates for lieutenant governor and secretary of internal affairs. State Sen. John H. Dent of Westmoreland county already is circulating petitions for the former place.

Goes To Governor In Cat's "Murder"

Harrisburg, Pa., Feb. 15 (AP)—Joseph A. Kyle protested to Governor Edward Martin in a 1,000-word letter today that the "wanton murder" of his rat-catching cat Pinto—"a good citizen" was an invasion of farmers' rights. He claimed a game warden's son shot Pinto.

Considering the number of rats the cat killed in his Mt. Bethel homestead and the federal government's estimate each rat destroys more than $250 worth of farm grain annually, Kyle figured each of his pets "should be worth several thousand dollars to me and to the state of Pennsylvania in which I am one of the farmers doing what I can to increase the state's food supply."

"Until Pinto is avenged and exonerated," Kyle wrote, "in my memory my farm shall be posted for the first time in 15 years against all fishermen, hunters, trappers and cat-killing game wardens. And I urged all like-minded farmers to do likewise."

county committee on Citizens military training camps in 1931, it has been announced by Captain Schaumburg McGehee, York, associate chairman of this county.

BIKINI ATOMIC TEST PLANS ARE TOLD BY ARNOLD

Philadelphia, Feb. 15 (AP)—Arrangements for the Bikini atomic test of the atom bomb on surface craft in the Marshall Islands are so futuristic that Gen. Henry H. (Hap) Arnold describes them as "Buck Rogers" plans.

The retired chief of the Army Air Forces detailed some of the plans for the atom-bomb tests at a press conference here yesterday. He is stopping off at Philadelphia enroute to his birthplace in nearby Gladwynne, Pa.

General Arnold said the atom bomb test (known as the Crossroads Project) would be a joint operation of the navy, army and air forces.

To Use Robot Planes

"One of the bombs," he said, "will be set off from a static position near water level. The other will be dropped by one of five specially equipped B-29's of the air forces 509th Composite Group, the group which dropped the first two atomic bombs and which now is in training at Roswell Field, New Mexico."

General Arnold said a special air forces unit was at another field in New Mexico training to study the effect of the atom bomb on aircraft. He listed the questions they will seek to answer as: 1. How near the blast can an airplane fly and still escape destruction; 2. How strong is the bomb's shock wave in the air; 3. How strong is the radioactive effect in the air around the blast; and 4. Is there radioactivity in the huge cloud that rises above the explosion.

"No sane man would dare go near enough to the blast to find out all these answers," General Arnold said. The special unit, he continued, "will operate ten radio-controlled B-17's that will take off, fly, and land without any living crew."

Will Send Answers

"Flying the target area these Portresses will transmit, also by radio, the answers we want. The radio-controlled planes will be based in the Kwajaleins, also in the Marshall Islands."

General Arnold also disclosed the setting up of "the crossroads airlines" which will use 30 C-54 transports from the Air Transport Command.

"Beginning March 1," General Arnold said, "Crossroads Airlines will run daily flights to transport Manhattan project personnel, air forces men, and joint army-navy task force people to and from the Bikini atoll."

PARADOX FACES P. A. FARMERS

Harrisburg, Feb. 15 (AP)—Farmers today face the economic paradox of being forced to sell at wholesale and buy at retail, says Dr. Raymond Miller, of Philadelphia, president of the American Institute of Cooperation.

Speaking before the Pennsylvania Association of Cooperative Organizations here last night, he pointed out the "unequal" educational, social and economic conditions under which rural people work and live as compared to the advantages of the average urban resident.

"No other professional or economic group would think of carrying on a business under this practice," he said in referring to the "wholesale-retail paradox."

"Farmers long have produced the food, fiber and shelter products upon which national and international prosperity has been built, and too often have received only insolvency in return."

Agriculture Secretary Miles Horst told the group that the efficient farmer cooperative is a vital part of the postwar program for Pennsylvania agriculture.

ARCHBISHOP ON VISIT TO VATICAN

Vatican City, Feb. 15 (AP)—Archbishop Francis J. Spellman of New York, a cardinal-designate, emerged from a half-hour audience with Pope Pius XII today and said the pontiff had expressed appreciation of the United States' efforts to help hungry Europe.

"The pope thanked the people of the United States and the archdiocese of New York for all they had done," Spellman said.

"I remarked to his holiness that all we could do was inadequate to meet the need. Admitting that, the pope nevertheless stressed how important it had been to the unfortunate of Europe, especially the children."

The archbishop during the morning said mass at St. Peter's basilica. Spellman is a friend of long standing of the pontiff. He commented "the pope's color is better" than when they last met.

Missing Babe Home; Nurse Held In Jail

Lakewood, N. J., Feb. 15 (AP)—Two-year-old Joseph Louis Wolfe, sought by police since his disappearance Saturday, was back today with his mother, Mrs. Ruth Heinberg, who came here from Philadelphia.

She had told police the child disappeared with a nurse whom she had employed three weeks ago. She filed a complaint in Philadelphia charging the nurse with abduction.

A woman taken into custody at a hotel where the boy was found will be given a hearing on a fugitive charge in Ocean county court today.

Lakewood Justice of the Peace Sidney Zweben yesterday held the woman who gave her name as Mrs. Elsie Test Baron, 23, for a hearing before Ocean county Judge Harry Newman in Toms River. The woman was committed to the county jail.

Police Chief Walter A. Curtis quoted the woman as saying the child's mother was aware that she intended taking the boy to New Jersey and had given her consent to the trip.

Tree Bands To Capture Insects

Any advice offered on using protective bands around the trunks of fruit and shade trees to ward off insect attacks must always be studied with reminders that the effectiveness of bands is limited. Obviously flying insects are not in any degree hampered in reaching the foliage and fruit, as winged female moths or beetles easily fly to the branches and there deposit their eggs from which later hatch the feeding, boring or sucking grubs or larvae.

Therefore, in suggesting the preparation and application of bands, first emphasis is placed on limitations of this means of insect control. These are best described by citing the pests which are retarded by banding, those which must travel up or down the trunk because the parent form is wingless or because larval habits dictate the route of migration.

The well-known cankerworm often called "measuring" worm or "looper" is one of the culprits captured by tree bands. While the egg-laying female moth has wings, they are so short and impotent that she does not use them for flying. Thus, she reaches shade and fruit trees by crawling up the trunk. Females of the spring cankerworm often appear as early as mild days in late February.

Codling moth larvae (apple worms) are propagated in the tree top from eggs laid by the flying moth. However, the worms often leave the tree, after feeding on foliage and fruit, by crawling down the trunk, although many of them drop to the ground directly after they tunnel from the fruit.

Also, certain insects, particularly those attacking shade trees, may under strange urges travel up or down the trunks during the larval (worm) stage, even though the parent is equipped for flying. In all these cases banding proves worthwhile, especially where spraying is not employed sufficiently to maintain adequate control.

Ordinary burlap folded and fastened around pome fruit trees usually attract codling moth larvae, mainly as a temporary shelter beneath which to transform into moths again. Success with bands for reducing codling moths depends mainly on how frequent the bands are inspected to permit killing the accumulated worms. Delay may afford time for the transformation into another generation of egg-laying female moths.

Bands for shade trees may be this shelter type, although sticky bands usually serve more effectively. To capture cankerworms of the spring species, bands should be in place by the last week in February and kept in maximum working condition until late spring. For curbing other pests likely to employ the trunk as a highway to or from the foliage, bands may be used all summer. Fall cankerworms require trunk banding after late September or early October.

A suitable band is made by melting 2 1/2 pounds of rosin over a slow fire and adding 1 1/2 pints of castor oil after the rosin is dissolved. Stir until the mixture is a dark, even colored mass. Spread this while it is warm on a strip of roofing paper fastened around the tree trunk over a thick layer of cotton batting. The paper should be 6 to 12 inches wide. Renew the coating as often as it loses its stickiness. The cotton is necessary to prevent insects crawling beneath the paper through bark crevices. Do not apply sticky materials directly on the bark.

SEE O'MAHONEY AS PROSPECT IN ICKES VACANCY

By JACK BELL
Washington, Feb. 15 (AP)—President Truman was reported today deliberating over a half dozen possible appointees for secretary of interior, with Senator Joseph C. O'Mahoney (D-Wyo.) strongly backed by Capitol Hill friends.

Mutual friends of the President and O'Mahoney said the Wyoming senator's name was high on the list, but added that Mr. Truman seemed undecided whether O'Mahoney would be of more service to the administration in the cabinet or the senate.

Should O'Mahoney be chosen for the post, the expectation here is that Wyoming's Gov. Lester C. Hunt either would succeed him immediately or become a candidate for the senatorial nomination at stake in the state this year. Hunt was one of two Democrats to unseat Republican gubernatorial incumbents in the 1942 elections.

Douglas a Possibility
But if the President turns away from the Senate to fill the job that Harold L. Ickes resigned so explosively, one presidential adviser said it is possible that Justice William O. Douglas might be asked to leave the supreme court to take over.

All sorts of switches in his official family were reported to have been suggested to the President, who saw several senators and House members about the matter yesterday.

Those in a position to know said there had been discussion of a possible switch of Secretary of Labor Lewis Schwellenbach to the interior spot, but they represented Mr. Truman as indicating that it would be a difficult problem for him to fill the labor post.

Senator Mitchell (D-Wash.) told a reporter he hopes Schwellenbach can be transferred, but has not yet had a chance to make that suggestion to Mr. Truman.

Also discussed, legislators said, was the possibility that if Douglas were named, Schwellenbach might be chosen for the resulting court vacancy.

SEATTLE HAS WORST QUAKE IN ITS HISTORY

Seattle, Feb. 15 (AP)—A two-story wall and a 50,000 gallon water tank toppled and frightened people rushed from buildings early last night when an earthquake rocked a 120,000 square mile area of the Pacific Northwest.

Only a few minor injuries were reported—including a knee injury suffered by Harry B. Greenlee, a locomotive fireman flipped from the cab of his engine at the Northern Pacific roundhouse.

Geology Prof. G. E. Goodstreet of the University of Washington said the seismograph needle there jumped from its drum at 7:18 1/2 p. m. Pacific Standard Time, and that the quake continued to record for 20 minutes. It could be felt, however, for only about a minute in downtown Seattle.

Hotel Cornice Falls
He termed it the worst quake ever recorded here, describing it as being of "moderate intensity," and said he believed it centered near Olympia, state capital city.

People ran in fright from the hotel Olympian there when a cornice 75-feet long dropped from the six-story high roof to the roof of the first floor. Cracks appeared in at least one building of the state group, and in buildings here and in Bremerton, across Puget Sound.

The water tank was atop the 14-story Flax Flouring Mills plant. It cracked its roof when it fell and water cascaded down stair wells.

From Salem, Ore., on the south to Vancouver, B. C., to the north came reports that the quake was felt. It was noted at Astoria, Ore., and Hoquiam, Wash., on the coast and as far inland as Spokane, in Eastern Washington.

MONGREL DOG GIVES LIFE IN SAVING MASTER

Kane, Pa., Feb. 15 (P) — This mountain community sorrowfully acclaimed a new hero today — a mongrel dog that sacrificed its own life to save its four-year-old master from a great, savage, lion.

Young Claude Mollander, Jr., was safe, unscathed after his face to face encounter with the fierce beast. But he mourned the loss of his beloved playmate, whose spunky fight held off an attacker three times its size until Claude reached safety.

The 150-pound puma was slain, later, by a state policeman who had to resort to a service pistol because his high-powered rifle jammed.

Escaped From Zoo
Claude and his big dog were rumpling near the boy's home yesterday when the mountain lion, which officers said escaped from a private zoo, appeared.

The lad's screams at his door brought his family in time to witness the end of the battle between the lion and the dog.

As the lion turned and disappeared in a nearby wood, the boy's father hurried to a service station down the road and phoned state police.

State police Sgt. C. E. Stacey, accompanied by the boy's father, entered the wood. They saw the beast coming toward them.

Skin To Be Rug
Stacey drew a bead with his 30-caliber rifle, but the gun jammed. Then the officer whipped out his service pistol and fired two shots. One hit the puma's spine, crippling it. A few minutes later, a shot from the rifle ended its life.

Sgt. Stacey said the mountain lion was one of two exhibited by Dr. E. H. McClerry, retired physician, at his private zoo seven miles from Kane. The doctor for the last 10 years has made a hobby of raising the almost extinct lobo wolf and now has 25 or 30.

Dr. McClerry presented the dead puma to Stacey who says he'll make a rug of the skin.

MOTOR FUNDS USE QUESTIONED

Harrisburg, Feb. 15 (AP)—A question that Pennsylvania's new roads amendment to its constitution prohibited use of motor funds for purchase of privately-owned toll bridges was considered today by the Dauphin county court.

The question was raised in arguments yesterday in a suit seeking an injunction to restrain the Commonwealth from buying and freeing the last 10 toll bridges in the state with a $7,000,000 appropriation from the motor fund.

The Peoples Bridge company, Harrisburg, owner of the Walnut street bridge, one of the toll spans, filed the suit.

Charles L. Kenworthy, counsel for the bridge company, argued that the roads' amendment, adopted by the voters last November, limited the motor fund to construction and maintenance of roads and bridges and made no provision for its use in purchasing toll bridges.

Deputy Attorney General H. P. Stambaugh replied for the Commonwealth that the amendment was not retroactive.

The court took the suit under advisement after hearing the arguments.

NEW THEORY IN MURDER TRIAL Easton, Pa., Feb. 15 (AP)—Mrs. John Rosza, whose husband is being tried on charges of murdering her, may have died as the result of a fall, Dr. David P. Bachman, Northampton county coroner, testified.

The coroner, who had said previously that Mrs. Rosza died of a brain hemorrhage caused by a blow, said after five hours of questioning last night that any violence or a fall might have caused her death.

Lachman told the court he received a telephone call from Mrs. Rosza's husband, John, who said "my wife dropped dead."

Bruises were found on her body, he testified.

Assistant District Attorney William C. Fulmer has asked the death penalty for the 56-year-old Rosza, a Bethlehem real estate agent, charging he beat his wife to death last December 28.

Also testifying was Dr. M. G. Miller, Northampton, Pa., who assisted in the autopsy performed on Mrs. Rosza. He said death was caused by a brain hemorrhage and traumatic shock.

RADIO PROGRAMS

New York, Feb. 15 (AP)—For the reason that mystery shows are cheap to produce, have strong audience pull, and therefore practically a guaranteed high rating, the airways are haunted with them. A sponsor looking for a new show to advertise his product would rather rely on this pat formula than gamble on a variety show. . . . Another new one is being thrown on the market at 8:30 Tuesday night over ABC, namely the "Dark Venture." The new twist is to "challenge the listener to solve the outcome by applying psychology."

ARMY LOWERS STANDARDS FOR NEW DRAFTEES

Washington, Feb. 15 (AP)—The army lowered its physical standards for draftees to "the absolute minimum" today and called on Selective Service to comb over previously rejected men to fill its lagging quotas.

By this drastic means the War department said it was hoped to obtain 250,000 men through the draft during the first five months of this year as replacements for the army's thinning ranks.

Selective Service officials said they believed the demand could be met from a pool of men who had been rated as qualified for limited service but previously turned down by the army. These men are among approximately 1,250,000 between 18 and 25, most of whom had been classified 4-F for physical or mental reasons.

Speed Navy Discharges
Men with "mental deficiencies, mild in degree," men with certain types of hernia and those who stammer or stutter will be taken under the lowered standards, which the War department termed "the absolute minimum requirements for any type of military service."

Meanwhile, the navy and marine corps announced further cuts in discharge points to speed the release of some 183,000 officers and men.

The navy's cuts, with some exceptions, will be one point each April 15 and May 2 for male officers and men and one point on May 2 for WAVE officers and enlisted personnel and members of the navy nurse corps.

The marine score will be lowered three points March 1 for male officers and men only.

FARM TRAINING

result in the formation of classes, depending upon the type of instruction sought by the individual trainee. It may be given by classes when general farm management is sought and it is possible to group several trainees. It may be individual where special training is sought by the veteran.

Teachers of vocational agriculture will provide the instruction, and will receive $2 an hour, to be paid by the local school board, which, in turn, will be reimbursed by the Veterans' Bureau. Five cents a mile will be paid for travel to and from farms for the necessary supervision of the veterans in their application of their classroom instruction. The school district may receive from the Veterans' Bureau as much as $5 per week for the use of classroom, electricity, janitor service, heat, etc.

Will Certify Farms
The course of instruction to be given will be prepared by the teacher of agriculture, with the assistance of the county supervisor of vocational agriculture. The instruction will be determined by the previous experience of the trainee and the type of farming he wishes to do. The county supervisor will certify the training center, which will include the farm where the trainee is located as well as the school where the training is given.

Other details determined at today's meeting included: the farmer selected must agree to give the trainee a cross-section of all farming operations in the type of farming he desires; the farm selected must be agreeable to the trainee; the trainee must be acceptable to the farmer; the farmer may pay the trainee what he thinks his services are worth; the Veterans' Bureau will make up the difference between what the trainee is paid and the prevailing rate of pay in the county for skilled farm labor; the contract can be terminated at any time by the farmer or the trainee, or the trainee can transfer to another farm if he can get a better training program.

SHEIK'S MURDER COLLECTIONS IN THREATENS WAR

Damascus, Feb. 15 (AP)—The murder of an Arab sheik threatened a desert war today.

Prince Faour Alfaour, chief of the Fadal tribe, said other sheiks had informed the Syrian prime minister that tribal sheiks were conferring in the desert and that tribes would gather if the government failed to satisfy their demands for solution of the murder.

The government is undertaking to isolate the entire Bedouin tribe of the Naims by moving them west of the Orontes river to relieve the tension, but Faour said that would not suffice.

A month ago Sheik Trad Almie Isem, chief of the Hsench tribe was slain by two Bedouins. For years there has been a dispute over land and pasture rights between the Hsenchs and Naims, but Arab leaders attributed the crime to political assassins and demanded that the government catch the instigators.

Both tribes have powerful connections. The Hsenchs are valiant warriors and are related to the Aneiza tribesmen across the border in Iraq.

The semi-nomadic Naims are in close touch economically with the neighboring cities of Homs and Hama.

"The training of veterans for the vocation of farming will usually be individual instruction based almost entirely upon the immediate needs of the veteran," Mr. Lighter said.

COXSWAIN FAIR ASSISTS WITH BIRTH AT SEA

Coxswain George Fair, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Fair, 120 Steinwehr avenue, lost his shirt in one of the most unusual "battles" of the war. Fair, pharmacist's mate James O'Neill and MMR 2/C Herbert Hochreiter, were coming in from the island of Taboga to Panama aboard one of the navy's 50-foot motor launches for a liberty of a few hours. About half way on their journey they overtook a 20-foot sloop.

A Panamanian was waving from the sloop and the three waved back. But when the man kept on an excited waving they decided something was wrong and "Skipper" Fair put back to the sloop.

Stork Got Tired
The gentleman had a sad story to tell. His wife, it seemed, was about to give birth to a child and determined to get to a hospital. The couple had headed from Taboga to Panama at 4 o'clock that morning but had broken their rudder and were drifting. Would the sailors take them on to the mainland and the hospital? The three took the Panamanians aboard.

Twenty minutes later the stork decided he was tired of flying so far. O'Neill borrowed Fair's shirt and Hochreiter's jackknife. Using a cigarette lighter to sterilize the knife he set to work and shortly the population of the 50-foot boat had increased from five to six.

The boat put in at the mine dock at Panama. The mother and her eight-pound daughter were dispatched to a hospital. Fair secured a new shirt and the three sailors continued on their liberty.

Rescues, Deaths and a Birth
Fair wrote his parents that the launch, the handling of which has been his duty since being at the naval base at Taboga, so far has been used for rescue duty at sea, that several deaths have occurred aboard it "and now a birth. I think I'll have to paint a Red Cross on the side of the launch."

On only one trip was the launch and its skipper disappointed. Coxswain George's brother, MAM Leslie Fair, Jr., was on his way home on the West Point, leaving the Philippines January 14. The ship was to come through the Panama Canal and George hoped to board it to see his brother—but the ship did not stop at Panama and the brothers failed to meet.

Leslie arrived at Bainbridge Friday night, according to word received by his parents and expects to be discharged and home today.

CHARGE COUNTY DRIVER IN CRASH

Three persons were slightly injured and three automobiles were damaged to the total extent of $550 in an accident at 10:15 p. m. February 6, a mile south of Greencastle on the Molly Pitcher highway, state police reported February 6.

Pvt. C. N. Croft said that James Patrick Hughes, 43, Bronx, N. Y., was traveling north and had stopped his car on the highway preparatory to entering a tourist establishment when a car operated by Clarence Kenneth Powell, 21, Hagerstown, also traveling north, skidded on the ice on the road into the rear of the Hughes car.

A few minutes after the initial collision police said, the auto operated by Harry E. McDannell, 30, of Biglerville R. 1, approached from the south and, skidding on the ice, struck the Powell car.

Police, indicating that both Powell and McDannell had clear views of the highway for at least 100 feet, filed information of motor code violations against all three of the drivers before Magistrate G. Fred Zeigler, Greencastle.

Hughes paid fine and costs of prosecution in $135.00 on a charge of illegally stopping on the highway. Charges of traveling too fast for conditions were filed against Powell and McDannell.

Powell suffered an injury to the right knee; Delores Foltz, 17, of Hagerstown, a passenger in the Powell car, sustained a sprain of the right ankle, and Mrs. Hughes, a passenger in the car driven by her husband, suffered shock and a bruise of the head.

Damage to the Hughes and McDannell cars was estimated at $150 each, and to the Powell car at $250.

HUGHES PROMOTED
Frederick J. Hughes, York street, has been promoted to sergeant at the San Antonio, Texas, Air Field, according to word received by his wife here. Sergeant Hughes was transferred to the San Antonio station with the closing of the Harlingen Army Air Field where he was formerly stationed.

Francis J. Menchey Receives Discharge

Ph.M. 3/C Francis J. Menchey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Menchey, Gettysburg R. 3, arrived home last week after receiving his discharge from the Naval service at a separation center on the west coast.

Menchey spent 26 months in the Navy, 19 months of which were spent in the Pacific theatre of operations. His ship was in a number of engagements and was under fire a number of times.

The local youth flew east with his recent bride, the former Miss Della C. de Baca, of San Francisco. Their plane was grounded at Dayton, Ohio, because of weather conditions. Later they continued on to Harrisburg and then to Gettysburg.

The young sailor's mother was formerly Miss Selena Smith, of McSherrystown.

JOSEPH BECKER NEW LEADER OF TROOP NO. 78

Joseph Becker, Gettysburg R. D., was named as Scoutmaster of Boy Scout Troop 78 Sunday night succeeding Bernard Riley, Hanover street, who was elected a member of the troop committee.

Named as assistant Scoutmasters were Charles Abell, South Washington street, and Donald Staub, York street. All are returned veterans of World War II. Leo McDermott, Hanover street, was elected a member of the troop committee.

All of the appointments were made as temporary pending commissions for the new Scouters from the York-Adams area offices of the Boy Scouts. The men were selected at a meeting of the Troop 78 committee held in the social rooms of St. Francis Xavier school.

The new Scoutmaster had been an assistant Scoutmaster for the troop a number of years prior to entering the armed forces.

It was announced at the meeting that the troop had received a donation of $50 from the Citizens' Oil company. A similar donation had been given previously by the company to the Carolyn Codori troop of Girl Scouts also sponsored by St. Francis Xavier church.

Materials have been secured for renovating the old Catholic school which is scheduled to be headquarters for the troop upon completion of work in repairing the structure. The school, which housed the parochial school students for many years prior to the building of the present Catholic school, has for many years been used only as a garage by the rector of the church. Members of the committee, Scouts and Scouters are planning to do the renovating work themselves starting on Thursday evening.

The meeting night for the troop was changed from Friday to Thursday evenings.

3 CANDIDATES FILE PAPERS

A Republican county committee member, Merle H. B. Heikes, East Berlin R. 1, and two other Latimore township candidates, are the first to file their petitions at the office of the county commissioners. The others are Clair E. Grove and Edward C. Prosser, both York Springs R. 1.

Only the petitions of committee members and Republican county chairman are filed here. Serrators and Representatives in Congress and the state legislature file in Harrisburg. In Adams county, there are three Republican committeemen to be named in each township. Democrats elect two in all the towns and three in some districts. The Democratic organization in the county elects its chairman.

The petitions of John H. Baschore for Republican county chairman have been in circulation for several days. Petitions of Congressman Chester H. Gross were circulated at the Lincoln Day dinner at the Hotel Gettysburg Tuesday evening.

February 9 was the first day to file petitions. March 11 will be the last.

RICE BOOMED FOR GOVERNOR IN 4 COUNTIES

Democratic leaders in Adams, ties Monday fired the opening gun in their campaign to secure the Democratic gubernatorial nomination for former State Senator John S. Rice, of Gettysburg, recently discharged colonel in the Army Air Forces.

A spokesman for the four-county group comprising the 21st Congressional district, who asked that his name be withheld, said that sentiment and support in eleven other counties was crystallizing for Rice and that "an official announcement of their endorsement of the Adams countian is expected to be made before Thursday's meeting of state Democratic leaders."

When asked if he would be a candidate for governor, Rice said:

"I am aware of the action taken by the Democratic leaders in this district and I appreciate the compliment. If it is the will of the Democratic party in Pennsylvania that I seek the gubernatorial nomination it is only natural that I give it serious and thoughtful consideration. The party's success in November is paramount in my thoughts."

Colonel Rice, who is 47 made his debut in politics in 1932 when he was elected to the state Senate in the Adams-Franklin district, the first Democrat to hold that post in more than 30 years. He was re-elected in 1936. He was majority floor leader in the Senate, chairman of the appropriations committee and president pro-tem of the Senate. He was also chairman of the Pennsylvania Commission of the 75th anniversary of the Battle of Gettysburg and the last reunion of the Blue and Gray veterans of the Civil War.

He is a veteran of the last two world wars, serving more than three years in the recent conflict both in this country and overseas.

Mission Completed

The Gettysburg Times Service Edition, oldest of its kind of known record in the country, will mark "Mission Completed" with its February 22nd edition. It will cease publication as of that date, having fulfilled its mission to the men and women in service from Adams county.

The subscription list of the Service Edition has dwindled to less than 100 from a peak total of more than 4,000 during the war years.

Now, with the cessation of hostilities more than six months old, and the persistent acute shortage of newsprint, the depleted press-run makes it economically unsound to continue publication. Present subscribers are invited to consider subscribing to the daily Gettysburg Times at the prevailing rate of fifty cents per month.

The Gettysburg Times inaugurated the Service Edition to service men and women early in 1940 when the daily newspaper was sent to all those countians in service, with the compliments of the publishers. Later the War department and the Post Office department restricted the paper to camps and bases within the United States, unless subscribed to and paid for by the recipient or his or her family. The Navy department later followed suit. However, The Times continued to go forward to men and women all over the world, so great was the demand for the "home town paper."

Since the collapse of Germany and Japan and the discharge of hundreds of countians the Service Edition has gradually dwindled to less than 100.

Should you be interested in your home town news may we suggest that you consider the daily edition of The Gettysburg Times.

Four Persons Hurt As Car Hits Pole

Four persons suffered minor injuries early Sunday morning when a car driven by Robert P. Smith, Hanover, crashed into a telephone pole about 1 1/2 miles east of Gettysburg on the Lincoln highway.

Smith, who told members of the local state police sub-station who investigated that he had fallen asleep while driving, suffered bruises of the body and face as did the other occupants of the car, Kathleen Hartlaub, McSherrystown; William L. Mock, Hanover, and Frances Mock, Hanover. All were taken to the Hanover hospital by a passing motorist but none was admitted.

The car, after Smith fell asleep, crossed to the south side of the highway before going off the berm and striking the pole. Damage was estimated at $80. The investigation is being continued.

DECISION NEAR ON FUTURE OF TEEN-CANTEEN

Unless there is more interest shown by local organizations and parents the Youth Center on Baltimore street will close next Monday night.

Henry T. Bream, chairman of the town's Youth Council today announced that a meeting of representatives of all organizations in town and all parents, whether or not they have ever contributed to the upkeep of the center, will be held in the Teen-Canteen in the former Lincoln Trust building next Monday at 8 p. m.

If the attendance at that meeting is small the center will close due to the apparent lack of interest of the community in the work, Mr. Bream said.

Started 14 Months Ago
So far the canteen seems to have had a very useful place in the community, with from 80 to 100 youngsters of high school age crowding the establishment each Saturday night to dance, sing, read and write and generally have a good time in wholesome surroundings, the committee declared.

However the canteen is supported entirely by contributions from interested individuals and organizations and if there is little interest among the adults, the program cannot continue, it was stated.

Both those in favor of the establishment and those opposed to it were urged by the committee to attend the session next Monday night so that a decision can be reached concerning the continuation of the youth center.

Started 14 months ago in the Hill building on Chambersburg street the center soon outgrew those quarters and moved 10 months ago to its present location.

Vote Contribution To Memorial Fund

The Gettysburg WCTU held its monthly meeting Friday night at the home of Mrs. Emory Zepp, East Middle street. The theme of the meeting was the Frances Willard Memorial and the local unit voted its annual contribution to that fund.

Mrs. Zepp was in charge of the devotionals. The visit and treat for the county home patients was reported. Gifts included oranges, cakes, buns and candy. Articles were read on Frances Willard. A social hour followed the business session.

The March meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Milton Remmel.

CYRIL MILLER, MAIL DRIVER, DIES SUDDENLY

Cyril L. Miller, 38-year-old contract mail driver between Gettysburg and Harrisburg, was found dead in bed at his home in Gettysburg, about 6:30 o'clock Tuesday morning by his wife as she returned from a mail route trip she made as substitute for her ill husband.

Dr. C. G. Crist, county coroner, listed coronary occlusion as the cause of death and said Mr. Miller probably died about 5:30 a. m.

He had been suffering from a heart condition for the last four years and for the last three days had been under a doctor's care. He retired Monday evening about 9:15 o'clock. Mrs. Miller had been making the three and a half round trips to Harrisburg daily for her husband during his illness.

A native of Adams county, Mr. Miller was a son of Mrs. Carrie Miller, Gettysburg, and the late John Jacob Miller. He was a member of the local lodge of Eagles.

Surviving are his widow, the former Elsie Haverstock; a step-daughter, Miss Helen R. Miller, at home; and these brothers and sisters: George J., Bonneauville; Paul N., Ralph J., Mrs. Joel Woodward, Donald F., and Mrs. Mary Christmer, all of Gettysburg; Mrs. Edward Gilliland, Greencastle; John H., Gettysburg; Mrs. Glen Himes, York; Eugene B. and Miss Rita, both of Gettysburg; Mrs. Harold Miller, York, and S. 2 e Monroe Miller, serving with the U. S. Navy in Japan.

Funeral services from the Bender funeral home Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock with the Rev. Dr. Ralph R. Gresh, St. James Lutheran pastor, officiating. Interment in the Biglerville cemetery.

START DRIVE TO CURTAIL HOME MISHAPS

In an effort to halt the number of home accidents which during the past year caused injury to hundreds of Adams countians the county's home economics clubs during the coming two weeks will devote all meetings to a study of methods of preventing the accidents.

Miss Mildred Adams, county home economics advisor, will show a number of slides depicting the most prevalent accidents and methods of avoiding them. A circular on "Practice of Safety" at home will be given the members for a discussion period. At the following week's meetings the members will bring in a filled-out questionnaire checking hazards in the home for discussion with the entire group.

On a national scale, Miss Adams pointed out, 30,000 people were killed in home accidents last year, 150,000 were permanently disabled and 5,000,000 were temporarily disabled. The cost of the home accidents in the U. S. was $65,000,000.

Most fires are caused by carelessness in the home. A number of injuries occurred to county people during the year from slips while wearing new shoes. Improper use of knives and cutting utensils caused another large number of home accidents in the county, it was said.

Lovick Maurice Ellison, Kingston, Tenn., driver of a tractor-trailer truck, was fined $5 and costs by Justice of the Peace John H. Basehore Saturday night for driving too fast for road conditions. He was arrested in Gettysburg by Borough Police Officer Albert Wolford.

Two charges, one of driving to the left of the center of the highway, and the other of driving too fast for road conditions, were filed by Officer Clark W. Oliver Kuykendall Is Granted Parole

Oliver Kuykendall, Jr., Gettysburg R. 5, was paroled from the county jail, upon payment of a fine and costs, by the county court Monday. Kuykendall had been confined to jail upon failure to pay the fine and costs after being found guilty of assault and battery in a recent court trial.

A petition was read in county court Monday by Attorney John P. Butt asking parole for Charles Kuykendall, Gettysburg R. D., who is in jail on a three months sentence on a charge of contributing to the delinquency of a minor. The court did not act on that petition but at the end of Attorney Butt's plea granted a parole to Oliver Kuykendall upon payment of the fine and costs.

FORMER WAVE OFFICER QUILTS TEACHING POST

The Gettysburg school board accepted Monday evening, with regret, the resignation of Miss Miriam Waltemyer, teacher of Latin in the high school for eight years, who was recently discharged from the WAVES.

Miss Waltemyer sent her resignation in writing to the board, giving as her reason that she desires to continue her education. She will take postgraduate work at Columbia university leading to a doctor's degree.

The cafeteria at the Gettysburg high school showed a profit for January of $118.95, according to a report submitted and approved at the monthly meeting of the school board.

Balance in the cafeteria fund as of December 31 was shown as $934.13. Receipts for January were $310.52. Expenditures for salaries and service were $117.06 and for provisions $517, making a total of $634.06.

In case of inclement weather, the affair will be held in the gymnasium. Superintendent I. C. Keefe was authorized to obtain a commencement speaker.

VFW AUXILIARY HEARS PA. HEAD

Department President Lillian Stevenson was the speaker Monday evening at the semi-monthly meeting of the Ladies Auxiliary of Gettysburg Post No. 15 Veterans of Foreign Wars, held in the IOOF hall on Chambersburg street.

She spoke of the growth of the auxiliary and commended the members of the local unit on the progress that has been made by the local auxiliary.

Plans were announced for a banquet Friday, May 24, at the Yorktown hotel, York, at which the National President of the Auxiliary, Mrs. M. Frances Anderson will be guest of the York Auxiliary. All members of the local Veterans of Foreign Wars post and auxiliary are invited to attend and reservations for the banquet can be secured from the local auxiliary, it was announced.

Mrs. Rhea McCloskey, York, Department Junior Vice President, spoke on her tour as a member of the Department President's party. Other guests at the meeting were Department Chief-of-Staff Ruth Koch and Mrs. Ellen Schwartz, all of York, and the following from the Hanover auxiliary: Mrs. Katherine Luckenbaugh, president; Mrs. Elizabeth Mulligan, senior vice president; Mrs. Edna Hoff, chaplain; Bertha Lowe, treasurer, and Rose Peckman, color guard. Thirty-nine members attended the meeting which ended with refreshments.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Ott, Thurmout, announce the birth of a son at the Warner hospital Monday morning.

WIDOW AND TWO DAUGHTERS GET $16,000 IN SUIT

Mrs. Enid Martin, Littlestown R. D., and her daughters, Romaine and Jeannette, were awarded damages totalling $16,000 under a settlement presented to the county court Monday morning.

The settlement was made after Mrs. Martin entered an action in trespass Friday against John J. Shenk, Jr., York, and Cletus J. Godfrey, owner of the Coyle Freight lines. Mrs. Martin was seeking damages suffered in an accident last May 1 when a Coyle truck driven by Shenk smashed into the Martin car near Bonneauville. Mrs. Martin's husband, George W. Martin, and another daughter, 10-year-old Yvonne, were fatally injured in the accident. Mrs. Martin and the two surviving daughters were injured.

The settlement provides $6,766.68 for Mrs. Martin; $6,266.67 for Romaine and $2,966.67 for Jeannette. The lump figures in each case represent the share of each in the damages to the car, the loss due to death of the father and sister, and medical expenses, disfigurements and other results of the accident.

Named as guardian for the two girls was the Gettysburg National bank. Dr. Bruce N. Wolff, surgeon at the Warner hospital, appeared before the court to testify as to the extent of injuries to the two girls and Mrs. Martin and the results at present of the injuries as determined by a physical examination Monday morning. Romaine will bear a scar for the rest of her life on the forehead as a result of the accident. Doctor Wolff testified, while Mrs. Martin will possibly be handicapped as a result of a wrist injury if she plans to return to her former position as a machine stitcher.

Kenneth Smith, Glyndon, Md., was placed on parole for one year on condition that he pay the costs of the case and $150 to John Moose, Gettysburg R. D., following a hearing Monday morning.

Smith had been convicted of a charge of larceny, involving the stealing of some money from Mr. Moose. The court postponed sentence on the case at sentence court this month in order to determine how much the youth still owed Moose.

Moose, his son, Clair Moose, and Smith appeared before the court Monday morning presenting testimony that left the court confessedly bewildered as to how much money had been taken, how much had been returned and whose arithmetic, the court's or the witnesses', was the more reliable.

In sentencing Smith the court pointed out that "it is almost impossible to figure out how much was taken, how much was given back and how much is still owed. As a result, if you actually owe Mr. Moose less than the $150 you have to pay him back then consider it an additional fine. If it was more than $150 then you are getting the best of it." The costs and the $150 are to be paid in monthly installments.

Parole Kuykendall

Charles W. Kuykendall, Gettysburg R. D., who had been sentenced to 3 months in the county jail on a charge of contributing to the delinquency of a minor, was paroled upon application of his attorney, John P. Butt, who pointed out that Kuykendall had re-enlisted in the U. S. army prior to his getting involved with a 15-year-old girl and being sentenced. He has a report for duty March 2. The court placed him on parole for two months on payment of the fine and costs.

A hearing was held on the petition of Carrie E. Dicks, Reading township, for adjudication as a "feme sole trader" in which she testified that she and her husband, Charles N. Dicks, have been separated since 1925 and that since that time she has been sole support of a property jointly owned by them. Following the hearing the attorneys, J. Francis Yake for Mrs. Dicks and Eugene V. Bulleit for Mr. Dicks, were told by court to present briefs in the case within ten days.

FORMER LOCAL PASTOR WRITES 'PILOT'S PSALM'

The Rev. Edward H. Jones, pastor of the Gettysburg Presbyterian church here about 20 years ago and now a chaplain in the U. S. Army used a new slant for the old words of the 23rd Psalm, according to a story appearing in the Pathfinder, national news weekly.

Under the title, "Pilot's Psalm," the weekly carried the following story about the Rev. Mr. Jones:

"An army transport plane shuddered through an Alaskan storm. Passengers clutched at safety-belts, fingered parachutes. One man however, turned to the 23rd Psalm for comfort, changed the words to fit the situation.

"He was Chaplain Edward H. Jones, Presbyterian minister of State college. Since its composition in 1943 hundreds of airmen have asked for copies of his 'Pilot's Psalm,' carried the words into peacetime jobs.

"The Lord is my Pilot; I shall not crash. He maketh me to fly in clear skies; He leadeth me down to smooth landings; He keepeth my chart. He guideth me through the pathless ways of the skies for His name's sake. Yea, though I fly through the storms and tempests of life, I shall dread no danger; for Thou art near me; Thy love and Thy care, they protect me. Thou preparest an airport before me in the homeland of eternity; Thou embazonest the skies with Thy beauty; my plane flies gracefully. Surely sunlight and starlight shall favor me on the flight I take, and I will abide in the presence of my God forever."

BIDDLE HEADS MAY 30 GROUP

Henry T. Biddle, commander of the local camp of the Sons of Union Veterans, was elected chairman of the Memorial Day committee at an organization meeting Friday night at which all local veterans organizations were represented.

Named as vice chairmen were Lawrence M. Sheads, of the American Legion; George Rightmyer, of the United Spanish War Veterans; William B. Eckenrode of the Veterans of Foreign Wars and Glenn Sherman of the AMVETS.

Attorney William L. Meals, of the SUV, was selected as secretary and Jesse E. Snyder, of the SUV, treasurer.

An invitation to Governor Edward Martin to attend the Memorial Day exercises at which President Truman is scheduled to speak was sent by the committee.

In order to secure the participation of more school children in the annual parade and strewing of flowers on the graves of the soldiers in connection with the exercises the committee voted to meet with local school officials to have the parade and exercises part of the school curriculum.

Named to a committee to meet with the school authorities on the matter were Hugh Craig, American Legion; William B. Eckenrode, VFW; Glenn Sherman, AMVETS; William Shields, SUV and George Rightmyer, USWW.

Workmen opening the garage at 7 o'clock this morning discovered the fire which apparently had started only a few minutes before. They put out the flames with extinguishers available in the garage. The Gettysburg fire company was not called.

MOVE STARTED TO REORGANIZE COUNTY LEAGUE

A movement to reorganize the Adams County Baseball league, a casualty of World War II, has begun and a meeting is expected to be held the latter part of this month to start plans.

Baseball teams at Orrtanna and Arendtsville are backing the formation of the league and are set to enter teams.

It is understood a number of other county teams are interested in the formation of a loop and there is likelihood that six or eight and possibly 10 teams will be ready to hook up with the proposed circuit.

Gettysburg's status in entering a team is uncertain. Johnny Ridinger, who managed the local entry in the last county loop season, is now residing in Chambersburg and consequently would be unavailable for a managerial role.

Vets Available
With hundreds of returned veterans again available for baseball there is little doubt a comparatively fast league can be organized. Many former county stars played with service teams and are anxious to continue their diamond play.

Teams interested in entering the circuit are requested to contact George Burgner, East Stevens street, who was secretary of the league at the time it was discontinued.

The time and place for the reorganization will be announced later.

VET CENTER IS CREATED HERE

The Veterans Administration, Washington, Monday announced the establishment of a new veteran guidance center at Gettysburg college. Signing of the contract with the college was confirmed by Charles R. Wolfe, registrar. Mr. Wolfe said, however, no date had been set for the opening of the guidance center.

The center will be primarily for all veterans who desire an education under public law 16. However, all veterans will enjoy the right, under the GI bill, to examinations testing their abilities and interest in vocations and vocational training programs. To receive tests at the college, veterans must first apply to the Veterans Administration.

The tests will be given, in the case of those desiring a college education, to determine their abilities to carry on college courses, Mr. Wolfe said. In the case of others, the tests will be designed to discover the aptitudes of applicants for various occupations or vocational training.

The Veterans Administration will furnish, through the civil service, a training officer and a vocational advisor. The college will provide an appraiser and a psycho-matrician.

Sgt. Logan's Life Saved Many Times Back Of Nazi Lines By Dog's Keen Senses

Somewhere in Italy Sgt. Logan (left) took time out to pose with "Duke" beside the tent that housed the sergeant, the dog and the visiting soldier shown in the picture. The dog constantly stayed near the sergeant and during air raids insisted on sharing the same foxhole.

Operating two to two and a half miles behind the German lines in Italy "Duke," collie dog owned by Mervin H. Gardner, Jr., Harrisburg, saved the life of Sgt. James Robert Logan, 23 1/2 Chambersburg street, on numerous occasions.

Duke's ability to detect the presence of Germans and their installations not only saved the life of the local soldier, but the lives of many others, according to Logan. The keen-nosed ability of the Harrisburg dog allowed Sergeant Logan to lead "innumerable" reconnaissance patrols behind the enemy lines, more patrols than were conducted by any other man in the 37th Infantry Dog Platoon, and thus won for Logan the Bronze Star for gallantry in action.

And best of all—according to Sergeant Logan, now Mr. Logan and home after 2 1/2 years of service in the U. S. Army—Duke may soon be with his soldier master as a civilian. Immediately after his discharge from service Logan went to Harrisburg to visit the dog, which like himself had received a discharge from the service. Duke's master is planning to allow the dog to come to Gettysburg, and stay with Logan at the Bob Bell dog training farm where Logan worked for six years before entering service and plans to continue the training of dogs as his life work.

Sent first to Camp Lee for basic training in the Quartermaster Corps, Logan was transferred to Fort Robinson, Neb., where the army was training his K-9 corps. From September, 1943, to May, 1944, he worked as a dog trainer, training attack dogs for Coast Guard installations and sentry dogs for Air Corps duty. There the canine pets which came from hundreds of homes all over the U. S., were trained to become one-man animals, alert for the slightest movement of an enemy, ready to attack all upon their master's order.

Toughest job at the camp was that of the men who played the "enemy." Dressed in heavy padded garments the men would deflect with padded arms the leap of the dogs for their throats. Because of the danger inherent in the work none of the dog's attack training was given at night.

While the dog was attacking the "enemy," the soldier was firing .45 caliber blanks directly into the faces of the on-rushing canines.

Just as the army's basic training separated the men from the boys, so too did the training at Fort Robinson separate the dogs from the pups.

Despite their work around gun fire many of the dogs were unable to stand up in actual combat under the strain of continual artillery fire, Logan recalls. "But then," he adds, "a lot of men couldn't stand up under the continuous noise of the heavies so why should one expect dogs to do better?"

The 37th Dog Platoon was then formed and Logan, along with 19 other enlisted men, an officer and 24 dogs went to Italy. In Italy the outfit was attached to the 10th Division. During the long and grueling campaign the canine platoon was sent back to rest for only five days.

Got Little Rest
But the group did find some time to rest. They moved their quarters back about a half-mile from the front.

ROBERT L. SPAHR DIES FRIDAY OF CRASH INJURIES

Death claimed the fourth victim of the auto accident east of Gettysburg on the Lincoln highway early Thursday morning when Cpl. Robert Lewis Spahr, 22, son of Mrs. Bertha Spahr, 168 York street, died at the Warner hospital Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Others killed in the accident included: Marine Sgt. John Dale Kuhn, 21, veteran of Pacific campaigns who arrived home late Wednesday afternoon on leave and expected his discharge in two weeks after nearly three years of service.

Joseph Francis Sionaker, 22, 42 Breckenridge street, former army staff sergeant who was discharged last October after two and a half years with the Signal Corps here and in Europe.

In Army Three Years
Russell Knight Bumbaugh, 22, Gettysburg R. 5, discharged veteran of 15 naval engagements in the Atlantic and Pacific.

Spahr suffered cerebral concussion, fractured skull and multiple abrasions and contusions.

Corporal Spahr was born in Gettysburg, a son of Mrs. Bertha Spahr and the late Raymond Spahr. He attended grade school here and graduated from Gettysburg high school in 1942. He was a member of St. James Lutheran church and the Albert J. Lentz post of the American Legion.

Services on Tuesday
Inducted on February 10, 1943, at New Cumberland, Spahr was sent to Miami Beach, Fla., for six weeks of basic training. Later he was transferred to the Air Corps Technicians' school at Chanute Field, Ill., after which he was sent to Peterson Field, Colo. He was sent to India June 4, 1945, where he flew the famous "hump." After returning to the United States, December, 1945, he re-enlisted for a three-year period and was scheduled to report at Ft. Meade, Md., on March 3.

In addition to his mother he is survived by two brothers and a sister, James H., Jeanne and Raymond W., all at home; the paternal grandfather, L. H. Spahr, Gettysburg, and maternal grandfather, Irvin Riggs, New York city.

Funeral services from the Bender funeral home Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock conducted by the Rev. Dr. Ralph R. Gresh. Interment in Evergreen cemetery.

Reconversion of the dogs to civilian life is working out well, except for dogs who were 7 or 8 years of age when they entered the corps, Logan says. Many of the older dogs will be unable to become friendly to everyone again and will probably have to be shot. The reconversion training includes taking the dog into crowds, playing with it, allowing all kinds of strangers to pat it and talk to it.

Past Grands Pick Officers
The 152nd meeting of the Adams County Past Grands' association of the I.O.O.F. was held with Valley Home lodge No. 740, Fairfield, last Thursday evening following the regular business session of that lodge.

In the absence of Clair Pitttuff, York Springs, president, Merle Kittinger, of the host lodge, presided. The meeting opened with the assembly singing of "America" with Mrs. Ernest R. Sentz, Littlestown, at the piano. The invocation was given by the Rev. L. B. Hafer, Taneytown, Md.; the address of welcome by George M. Neely, Fairfield, and the response by W. D. Sheely, Littlestown.

The roll call of lodges revealed 48 persons present, representing four of the five lodges of the county, members of the Rebekah assembly and members of both branches of the order from lodges in Manchester, Taneytown and Westminster.

Election of officers for the current year resulted as follows: President, Dorsey Schultz, Fairfield; secretary, Ernest R. Sentz, with Edward Hawk, assistant secretary, both of Sylva lodge, No. 613, Littlestown; W. D. Sheely, Littlestown, treasurer, with the following vice presidents, one from each subordinate lodge of the county: Merle Kittinger, Fairfield; C. D. Bream, Montana lodge No. 653, Bendersville; Harold H. Reuning, Gettysburg lodge No. 124, Gettysburg; Walter M. Yingling, Littlestown; and Carl R. Prosser, York Springs lodge No. 211.

The Rev. Doctor Norman S. Wolf, pastor of Zion Lutheran church, Fairfield was introduced by Mr. Kittinger as the speaker. Proceeding along the Scriptural lessons of love of men and mutual assistance, the speaker drew parallels showing that while the lodge is not a substitute for the church, its work may supplement the work of the church.

The meeting closed with singing of "Blest Be the Tie that Binds," and the benediction by Doctor Wolf. The tentative date for the next meeting is March 5 with Gettysburg lodge as host. The local lodge will start conferring degrees on February 19 and the meeting date may be changed so as not to conflict with the work.

JUDGE LAUDS WAR EFFORTS OF COUNTIANS

Adams county swung easily into the war effort and is reconverting to peacetime activities just as swiftly, Judge W. C. Sheely told returned veterans and others attending the homecoming program held by the Order of Independent Americans Friday evening.

The judge outlined the great work done both by the men in service and those on the home front during the war, citing the distinguished record of the local men and women who took part in the various volunteer organizations, and those who worked long hours to produce the food and goods needed by the armies and in supplying the money needed for the war.

The returned veterans are fitting their lives smoothly into the civilian pursuits and the county has been foremost in its efforts to aid the veterans, he pointed out. It was one of the first counties to establish a Veterans Affairs office, among other activities.

A memorial service for Pfc. Willis Baker, a member of the local O. I. A. who died in the war was read by Luther Shryock, chaplain of the organization.

Letters from Lt. Col. Wilbur Plank, Springs avenue, and Sgt. YW LAUNCHES CAMPAIGN FOR $2,200 QUOTA

Mrs. Frank H. Kramer poured at the tea which formally opened the financial campaign of YWCA last Tuesday afternoon, assisted by Mrs. Ralph R. Gresh, Mrs. Harold J. Pegg, Mrs. Charles W. Ogden, Miss Maude Whiteleather and Mrs. L. C. Keefe, all members of the membership committee which planned the tea.

A patriotic motif was carried out, the tea table bearing a miniature log cabin and tri-color candles. The room was decorated with small flags of various nations and red and white snapdragons.

Following the tea, Mrs. Abdel Ross Wentz, president, spoke to the workers in an inspirational vein, using as her references the Scriptural passages which cited the building of a wall "If the workers put their minds to it" and the acts of faith involved in the feeding of the 5,000. Mrs. Gresh, membership chairman, spoke of increasing the number of women enrolled as actual members of the "Y. There are no dues," she stated, "any local woman interested in the work may become a member simply by subscribing to the statements in the membership card. This entitles her to voting privileges and admission to committee work if desired."

Outlines Campaign

Mrs. Guyon E. Buehler, finance chairman, outlined the mechanics of the campaign and said that "a goal of $2,200 had been set this year but on the basis of last year's support given by the community this should be considerably over subscribed. The entire amount will be used for running expenses during the next year and the trust fund set up recently by Mrs. Luella Musselman Arnold, Biglerville, will be used only toward the salary of an executive director as soon as one can be secured." She explained the use of funds for renovations and repairs during the past year by the house committee, Mrs. Wayne Keet, chairman, and cited several ways in which the Y "hopes to be of greater service to women and girls in the county this year."

Mrs. Kramer, captain of the workers, reported on the solicitors and the sections to be worked by them, with a few vacancies still to be filled. The office secretary, Mrs. Frank Grindler, will be in the office each afternoon from 2 to 5 o'clock to receive funds and reports from the workers, who were urged to make frequent reports so that the progress of the campaign might be gauged. All final reports must be made before February 28.

GIVES $10,000 FOR FAIRFIELD WATER SYSTEM

Fairfield already has had a donation of $10,000 towards its proposed water system and is expecting to complete plans for construction in the near future after a suitable source is obtained for the water and materials are available, it was announced Friday.

"Here Comes the Bride"

The band played "Here Comes the Bride," and the resounding roar of "I'm a Yankee Doodle Dandy" came from the throats of 1,666 brides—the British wives of American servicemen.

And with that exchange of song, the giant liner Queen Mary, converted into a floating nursery to accommodate the 668 children aboard, was nosed gently into its berth Sunday—ending the greatest overseas journey of women and children in history.

An increase in membership was noted in the attendance at the rehearsal session of the Gettysburg Blue and Gray band last Thursday night.

Forty members were in attendance which marks an increase of five over last week. At least a dozen more musicians of the community plan to join the band who have not yet appeared at the rehearsals. It is conservatively estimated by officials of the organization that upon completion of the band roster, the permanent working membership of the group will stand at between 50 and 60 members.

William I. Shields, president of the band's board of managers reported that "excellent results" are being obtained from the band's canvassing campaign to raise funds to make the reorganization a success.

Several letters from enthusiastic citizens were read, among which were those received from Mrs. Percival Nelson, Fairfield, and Prof. John Saby, State College, a former member of the band.

Members of the soliciting committee who have begun canvassing the town for funds, gave reports which are as yet incomplete. Gifts received thus far range from 50 cents from individual citizens to the $500 appropriation made by town council at its recent meeting.

LIBRARY PLANS LINCOLN ALCOVE

An appeal was made Tues., appropriately on the anniversary of the birth of Abraham Lincoln, for more material for the Adams County Free Library on the great emancipator, the Gettysburg battlefield, and the National cemetery.

"I am interested in building up our collection on Lincoln, the Civil War, Adams county and Gettysburg," said Miss Kathryn Oiler, librarian. "A great many visitors go through town, and expect to find material of that sort here," she added. "Also, inquiries come from all over the country with regards to the battle, the National cemetery, etc."

Some items which the library has already received include the following: "Story of the Life of Lincoln," by Whipple; "Myths about Lincoln," by Lewis; "Gettysburg," by Storrick; two volumes of "Pennsylvania at Gettysburg," history of Cumberland and Adams counties; report of the committee relative to the soldiers National cemetery; "Lincoln," by Raymond; "Lincoln," by Tarbell, and Rupp's history and topography of Dauphin, Cumberland, Franklin, Bedford, Adams and Perry counties.

Doctor Saby declared that Russia and the United States are the two most powerful nations in the world today but added that neither has complete faith in the UNO. LINCOLN TALK DELIVERED BY JOHN LIPPY, JR.

Hanging in the halls of Oxford college in England is a copy of a brief speech which the officials of that college consider the finest thing ever written in the English language.

Every school child in America and many throughout the world knows by heart those few words on liberty and human ideals before they reach the eighth grade.

The speech is more widely quoted than any other speech ever made.

Thus Gettysburg has become famous because of a simple talk presented by a simple man, President Abraham Lincoln, at the dedication of the National cemetery here, John D. Lippy, Jr., manager of the Lincoln room in the Wills house, and a student of Lincoln's life, told members of the Gettysburg Rotary club Monday night at the Rotarians regular meeting in the Y.W.C.A.

Life of Service

"Lincoln spent his life in service to his fellowman; he presented a philosophy that should be emulated today—of never allowing prejudices to rule him, but instead to study friend and foe in the light of their actions and thoughts and then acting out of knowledge instead of hate," Lippy said. "There have been more volumes written about the life of Lincoln than about any other man except Napoleon—some 7,000 books," Mr. Lippy declared, "and the Address he made at Gettysburg has been quoted more in the U. S. than any other written message, with the exception of the Bible."

The main speaker at the exercises here in 1863 was Edward Everett, outstanding orator of his day. To secure Everett's presence, the committee had postponed the opening of the National cemetery here from the originally planned October 23, 1863, until November 19, for Mr. Everett had said he could not prepare his oration in time.

Again, at the time of the ceremony, the program was held up a half hour until Everett arrived. He was president of Harvard and former ambassador to the Court of St. James, and he delivered 12 talks to raise $58,000 toward the purchase of President Washington's home, Mount Vernon.

Traces Lincoln's Life

Mr. Lippy read the opening passages of Everett's address to show its unfamiliarity, and compared that with Lincoln's address which is known to nearly everyone in America and Europe.

Lippy traced the life of Lincoln from his birth, through his early life when he showed great interest in reading, particularly the Bible and his tribute to his mother: "All that I am or hope to be I owe to my mother," upon her death.

"Lincoln was greatly disappointed in Meade after the battle of Gettysburg," Lippy said, "believing that if Meade had moved after the Confederate troops from Gettysburg he could have cut off Lee's forces and ended the Civil War in 1863."

Much of Lippy's address was devoted to a description of Lincoln. Mr. Lippy also described the scene at the cemetery where Lincoln spoke from a 40 foot platform facing away from the cemetery so that the crowd would not trample the freshly placed graves.

Following the talk the Rotarians were guests of Mr. Lippy at the Lincoln room in the Wills building. President James Cairns presided at the meeting with 45 members and guests present.

YOUTH CENTER REPORTS READY

A complete report on the income and expenditures of the Gettysburg Youth Committee during the past year will be presented Monday evening at 8 o'clock at the meeting of committee members with interested parents and organizational representatives, Henry T. Bream, chairman, announced Thursday.

Mr. Bream again urged that all persons interested in the youth center appear for the meeting, warning that small attendance at the meeting will force a closing of the Teen-canteen on Baltimore street and dissolution of the youth committee.

Since the establishment of the youth center 14 months ago it has been open several nights a week under the direction of Miss Doris Neithammer, girls physical education teacher at Gettysburg high school. The committee at a meeting Monday night paid tribute to the work of Miss Neithammer in connection with the center stating that the center is most attractive to the youngsters because of her skill in providing activities for the youngsters.

The center was established during the war years as a means of combating the lack of facilities for youthful recreation, the committee pointed out, and at present, unless more interest appears among those who would sponsor the program, the war-born activity will be ended.

Police Tab 12 Motorists In Vain; It's A Holiday

Gettysburg borough police, continuing their duties of making parking meter violations aware that the meters were put there for a definite purpose started out early Tuesday tagging those motorists who failed to "feed" the boxes. Twelve tickets in all had been placed by Borough Officer Albert Wolford when phones began ringing in borough offices and irate motorists started to besiege the office.

All wanted to know—"What is a holiday?" The marker on the parking meters say they are inoperative on Sundays and holidays.

Borough treasurer John H. Basehor, recalling that the day was Lincoln's birthday, a legal holiday in Pennsylvania and a number of other states, told those who reported to

A prize winning photographer and a Gettysburg college graduate now a Lutheran minister and radio commentator are combining on a new book about Abraham Lincoln.

John J. Loughlin, Troy, New York, who has become one of America's top prize winning amateur photographers with photographs of Lincoln, will supply the pictures for the book which Dr. Alford R. Naus is writing. The Rev. Dr. Naus is a graduate of Gettysburg college with the class of 1923.

The photographic work of Mr. Loughlin is performed with a small box camera which he purchased 25 years ago for one dollar. Even when his photograph of a Lincoln statue, entitled, "With Malice Toward None" took first prize in an exhibition at the World's Fair and he was offered his choice of photographic equipment he selected a tripod for the little camera and declined an expensive new model.

Now steward at the Chemists club of New York, he spends his vacation taking pictures in cities famous for Lincoln memorials. Two of his pictures representing the beginning and end of Lincoln's political career have been widely displayed. The one picture, taken of a statue at Prospect park, Brooklyn, shows Lincoln as eager and hopeful in his youth. The other is a portrait of the bust of Lincoln in Gettysburg. The first picture is titled, "The Futurist." The picture taken here is named, "He Is Now With the Ages," and shows the president as an older person, philosophical, with his head bowed with disappointment over the intolerance of mankind.

Another of his pictures is of the Lincoln memorial in Washington, acclaimed by some critics as being one of the best photographs of the huge figure seated, within the memorial.

2 LITTLESTOWN TEACHERS BACK

The Littlestown board of education met in regular session Tuesday evening in the high school office with all members in attendance. The report of the supervising principal, Paul E. King, was approved. This showed a total of 99 days of school to date.

Principal King also reported that a career conference will be held at Gettysburg on March 15 and all members of the junior and senior classes will attend. School attendance during the month was below normal due to an epidemic of colds, measles and chicken pox, with illness being prevalent not only in the grades but in the high school as well.

Mrs. Fern Stonessifer, Hanover, a member of the high school faculty, resigned January 16. Miss Maria Berger and Clayton Evans, both of whom were members of the local teaching staff before entering the service, the former in the Waves, have returned during the past month and resumed their teaching duties in the schools. MERCURY RISES TO 63 DEGREES

February is having its troubles deciding whether it should frisk about like a spring lamb or just forget the whole idea of spring and gloom along like any other winter month.

Thursday temperatures soared into the 60 column on the official thermometer of Dr. Henry Stewart and homes began to take on a spring-like appearance with windows and doors standing open and fires banked as much as possible.

During the night the mercury dropped to a mere 34 degrees, causing extra blankets to come off the beds of those preparing for a usual winter night, and leaving homes warmer than they have been for months when the fire tenders arose this morning to put on drafts and warm up the houses.

The 63 degrees recorded at 11 o'clock Thursday morning was better than last Feb.'s highest temperature, 55, and equalled the 63 recorded February 24, 1944. It was only one degree higher than the two 62 degree temperatures recorded in January of this year.

But Gettysburgians decided to enjoy the warm weather and the light rain without putting too much trust in its continuance. Last year, after warming up to 55 degrees, February decided to end its life with a cold snap and gave the borough in the last days of the month one of its heaviest snowfalls.

BISONS UPSET BULLET QUINT IN LOOP TILT

Bucknell university's basketball team handed the Gettysburg college cagers their third defeat of the season Saturday evening at Lewisburg by a 44-36 score in a Middle Atlantic conference game.

The Bisons played a pressing game all over the court which proved disastrous to the Bullets. Marksman-ship on the part of the Bream-men was far below par as time and again comparatively easy shots were missed.

Cal Welliver, star Bullet forward, was banished from the game early in the second half for a rule infraction.

Bucknell led by a slight margin throughout most of the game, holding a 23-19 advantage at half time and which they increased to 37-30 going into the final period.

During the second period a goal was credited to Gettysburg after a scrimmage underneath the hoop to retrieve a Bullet shot when the ball bounced off the hands of McGinn, Bison center, and dropped through the basket.

Haas paced the attack for the victors with six field goals and a pair of fouls.

CARS DAMAGED IN BIGLERVILLE ROAD COLLISION

No one was injured while damage totaled $125 late Wednesday morning when a truck driven by Raymond M. Schaeffer, Lancaster, crashed into a car driven by Elizabeth Ann Baumgardner, Biglerville R. 1, one-half mile south of Biglerville on the Gettysburg road.

The Biglerville R. 1 driver was headed south and attempted to make a right turn into a private lane. According to state police she swerved into the middle of the road before starting the turn and the left fender of the truck, which was following the car, struck the right side of the automobile.

The accident was one of several investigations conducted by the state police.

Other Investigations

A nine-year-old student at Paradise Rectory decided to see the world and was walking along the road near Abbottstown when George Chronister, near Abbottstown, picked up the youth who said he lived near Hanover. By the time they had arrived at Hanover Chronister had become suspicious of the youngster and turned him over to a member of the local state police who had stopped there while on a tour of duty. The policeman got the story out of the boy and returned him to the rectory.
